U.N. ATTACKING ON 25-MILE FRONT; CEASE-FIRE SUBCOMMITTEE GETS DOWN TO DETAILS, STUDIES MAP

POLICE PASSIVE TO REVIVAL OF ALTON GAMBLING, AWAIT COMPLAINT

Chief Says Action Will Be Taken When Someone Comes in and Signs Charges — Silent on Disclosures.

Police Chief Raymond Galloway of Alton made it clear today that his department would assume only a passive attitude toward gambling, although handbooks, dice games and other illegal activities have opened up in ar' near the city.

"If anybody comes in and signs a complaint, action will be taken," Chief Galloway said. "We have had no complaints. There are no gangsters in Alton, nor will we tolerate them."

Asked if that would be the extent of his department's efforts to suppress gambling, he declared: "After all, we haven't had any complaints. To my knowledge there's no gambling here. We have a lot of other things to do, you know."

Stands on Statement.

Questioned on whether he would tolerate gambling so long as no one complained about it, Chief Galloway replied: "You have my statement. That's all I care to say about it."

When his attention was directed to a news story in yesterday's Post-Dispatch which named two Alton cigar stores where dice games have reopened, Galloway said: "We will make an investigation."

He declined to say how and when, declaring that this information would "tip off" the operators.

'Heat' Is Off.

After the Post-Dispatch disclosed the "heat" was off again on gamblers in Madison county and at least nine places are operating crap games, Sheriff James Callahan, who lives in Alton, said he hadn't received any information about gambling operations.

Later the sheriff announced that "night rider" deputies, acting on his instructions, had made a tour of nine taverns and night clubs in Wood River Township on the outskirts of Alton Thursday night and early yesterday, but had found no evidence of gambling.

Callahan said he had heard gambling was going on in unincorporated areas outside Alton, but he received no reports from Alton police about any illegal operations inside the city. He added that he felt Alton police and city officials could cope with any situation in the city.

Alderman Urges Action on Peoria Gambling Data.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 18—Disclosure by the Peoria Journal of taverns, cigar stores and liquor stores where gambling is carried on led Alderman Robert A. McCord to urge the police department today to follow up the newspaper's leads.

Police Chief John T. McAllister told the city council that the only gambling in Peoria was of the "sneak" variety, operated on a small scale in isolated spots. The Journal, however, listed punchboards, lucky jars, baseball pools, card games and tip boards as forms of gambling at the places it named.

Chief McAllister said the Journal writer was trying to "smear" the administration of Mayor Joseph A. Malone by reporting that gambling has "mushroomed." Malone is a Democrat, Alderman McCord a Republican.

Lettuce of a Special* Sort.

LINDEN, N.J., Aug. 18 (INS)—The Pied Piper supermarket in Linden is looking today for one of its most satisfied customers. The shopper — a woman — hasn't been back since a clerk put $410.31 in a paper bag with her groceries last Wednesday.

SPRING WAGE-PRICE REVIEW IS INDICATED BY JOHNSTON

Stabilizer Approves Tying Pay to Cost of Living Until March 1—Three Ways to Get Increase.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Government has adopted, temporarily at least, a general policy of allowing wages to rise and fall with living costs.

In approving the policy yesterday, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said it was "in line with the over-all stabilization objective of keeping the American economy in balance."

However, Johnston said the whole stabilization program would have to be reviewed next spring. He approved the new policy, proposed by the Wage Stabilization Board, until March 1, 1952.

In the meantime, the board will approve wage increases granted by employers to offset the rise in living costs. Roughly, they have risen 11 per cent since January 1950 and about 2 per cent since the wage-price freeze of last Jan. 25.

The new policy supplements but does not change a separate regulation under which employers may grant increases of 10 per cent over January 1950 levels without coming to the board for approval.

The board promptly applied the new policy to a series of northern cotton-rayon textile mill cases. It granted a 6½ per cent boost, amounting to 8½ cents an hour to 90,000 CIO-textile workers, effective last March.

Under the cost-of-living policy, workers may get a wage boost in these three ways:

1. If they were working under a contract with an escalator clause in effect before the Jan. 25 wage freeze, providing for increases based on the rise or fall of the Government price index.
2. If the employer and union want to gear their pay rates in the future to such an index, the board will approve the contract provisions.
3. Employers and unions may open their agreements every six months and make adjustments limited to fluctuations in living costs.

TRUCKERS REFUSE 'PIGGY-BACK' RIDES TO AUTOS ON FERRY

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 18—A dispute over whether passenger cars should be loaded "piggy-back style" into empty potato trucks for the trip across Long Island sound threw the New London-Orient Point ferry service into confusion yesterday.

Five trailer trucks, returning to Long Island after delivering potatoes to the mainland, were driven on to the steamer Orient. The crew proposed to roll passenger cars up ramps into the empty space in the 30-foot vehicles.

The five truck drivers refused either to open their trucks to the passenger cars or pay an extra fare which would be imposed if the trucks were empty. The dispute has not been settled, although later the Orient resumed trips without trucks.

CREW OF 12 FOUND DEAD IN ALASKA NAVY PLANE CRASH

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 18 (AP)—Ground parties reached the wreckage of a Navy PB4-Y-2 Privateer bombing plane on the slopes of lonely Amak island off the northern Alaska peninsula yesterday and reported all 12 crew members were dead.

The plane disappeared Sunday on a routine mission from Kodjak toward Adak island in the mid-Aleutians.

A landing party from the Navy tug, Tillamook, toiled up to the 900-foot level on the island where the plane had crashed. All 12 bodies were identified.

Last position report from the four-engined bomber Sunday was about 200 miles northeast of Amak. The big plane apparently exploded as it crashed. Flames seared an area of about 100 feet.

KING, QUEEN GIVE PRINCESS MARGARET AUTO FOR BIRTHDAY

BRAEMAR, Scotland, Aug. 18 (UP)—Princess Margaret got a green Daimler roadster costing about £3000 ($8400), including purchase tax, from her parents today as a birthday present.

A weekend party will launch the festivities for her twenty-first birthday Tuesday and several of Margaret's favorite escorts have been invited.

Margaret has had a driver's license for three years and her friends say she likes fast cars. She has driven her father's Daimler, which is much like her new one.

Princess Elizabeth also was given a Daimler when she was 21, although it was not a birthday present.

WOMAN IS SHOT, KILLED IN HOME; HUSBAND IS HELD

Police Say He Admits Shooting After a Quarrel About Her Going to Store.

Mrs. Josephine Giuffrida, 55 years old, 5134 Daggett avenue, was shot to death by her husband, Thomas, at their home shortly before 10 a.m. today, police reported.

Lt. Walter Eitzman, acting commander of the Hampton avenue police station, said Giuffrida admitted killing his wife and told police he and his wife had been quarreling for years "over anything and everything."

Giuffrida, a laborer, informed Lt. Eitzman the shooting grew out of a quarrel over whether his wife was to accompany their son Leo to a grocery. She wanted to go and her husband insisted she remain.

Giuffrida told police that in the course of the quarrel, he went out to the garage and got his .38 caliber revolver.

"I came back in and pressed it against her head and said 'I ought to kill you and I think I'm going to.'

"She didn't move but said: 'Go ahead and do it—it doesn't make any difference anyway.'

"So I did," he added with a shrug.

Mrs. Giuffrida was found shot through the head in the bedroom of the frame bungalow by their son when he returned from the grocery. She was dead on arrival at City Hospital.

Giuffrida left the house after the shooting. A neighbor who did not identify himself called police, saying "I think my neighbor has shot his wife." When police arrived, they found the house vacant and locked up the premises.

Shortly thereafter, while police were seeking him for questioning, Giuffrida returned to the house, brushed past neighbors who stood in front and tried the front door and windows. He was arrested on the back porch.

A brother, Angelo Giuffrida, 5240 Daggett, told a reporter that Thomas is a veteran of World War I and a former teamster and truck driver. Thomas has been suffering from a heart condition for the last two years, Angelo said, which has resulted in his "imagining things."

Stranger 'Cracks' Secret Hearing, Brief Case His Only 'Credentials'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (INS)—Senators and Air Force officers were red-faced with embarrassment today because an uninvited stranger sat in at a closed committee meeting, at which a top-secret matter was freely discussed.

The stranger, whose only "credentials" were a brief case, sat through almost all of the committee meeting before his presence was discovered. He was ejected and turned over to hastily summoned Federal Bureau of Investigation agents for questioning.

The man, an elderly retired industrialist from New York, attended a secret hearing of the Senate military appropriations subcommittee, at which Air Force officers testified on the service's plans for expansion.

Senator Thye (Rep.), Minn., confirming the incident, said committeemen assumed the man was one of the civilians who accompanied Air Force witnesses.

For years it has been an axiom on Capitol Hill that any stranger could "crack" the most secret hearing if he carried a brief case, the mark of a bureaucrat.

Thye described the stranger as being of average build, rather thin and inconspicuous, with an intelligent face and "looking like just the type of civilian adviser you'd expect the Air Force to have."

The man asked the policeman at the door of the Senate office building for directions to the military appropriations hearings.

Finding the room, he joined a group of air officers and their civilian assistants, who waited in an anteroom. The door of the inner hearing room was opened by a committee aid who said, "You may all come in now." He marched in and sat with three other civilians at the side of the witness table. Thye said military secrets were discussed. About 15 minutes before the hearing broke up, testimony turned to what the Senator said was a "most highly classified secret."

It was at this point that Air Force officers questioned the identity of the stranger. The man was asked for his credentials.

"I don't have any," he is reported to have replied, with as much surprise as everyone else. He was quickly escorted out of the room and questioned.

Strangers now are being asked for their credentials before they enter the room.

$7,498,000,000 FOREIGN AID VOTED BY HOUSE, BILLION LESS THAN SOUGHT

Administration Looks to Senate to Restore Cut, Particularly $350,000,000 for Western Europe.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The House last night passed and sent to the Senate a $7,498,750,000 foreign aid bill. This was $1,001,250,000 less than President Truman had requested for helping friendly nations resist Communism.

Administration leaders looked to the Senate to restore at least a part of the billion-dollar cut.

They were particularly hopeful of restoring an unexpected last-minute slice of $350,000,000 in economic aid for western Europe. That cut was pushed through by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats shortly before the bill passed by a vote of 260 to 101.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee, in drafting the bill, had already lopped $340,000,000 off funds for European economic help. The additional cut was imposed by 149 Republicans and 37 Democrats over the opposition of 162 Democrats, 14 Republicans and one independent. It was sponsored by Representative Reece (Rep.), Tennessee, former chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Cut in European Aid.

The House bill, as passed, left the European economic allotment at $985,000,000 instead of the $1,675,000,000 requested by President Truman.

There were no House-voted reductions in other funds recommended by the Foreign Affairs Committee. This group had trimmed a total of $651,250,000 from Truman's requests for military and economic assistance for Europe, Greece, Turkey, Iran, the Near East, Africa, Asia, the Pacific area and American republics allied in resistance to Communism.

On passage the bill had the backing of 178 Democrats, 80 Republicans and one independent and the opposition of 81 Republicans and 20 Democrats.

Missourians' Votes.

Voting for the bill on final passage were Missouri Congressmen Bolling, Cannon, Carnahan, Jones, Karsten, Magee and Moulder (Democrats) and Armstrong and Bakewell (Republicans).

Voting against the bill were Curtis and Short (Republicans).

Illinois Congressmen voted: For — Dawson, Kluczynski, Mack, O'Brien, Price and Yates (Democrats) and Chiperfield and Springer (Republicans); against—Allen, Arends, Bishop, Church, Hoffman, Jenison, Jonas, McVey, Reed, Sheehan, Simpson, Vail, Velde and Vursell (Republicans).

Congressman Busbey (Rep.), of Illinois, was paired against the bill.

Republican Goal.

The cut in the fund authorizations—it is not an appropriations bill—was not so deep as many Republicans had hoped for. Their goal was an over-all reduction, including the committee cuts, of from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

Democrats turned back repeated attempts to cut military aid allotments and to make other changes in the bill. But Reece's last-minute move caught them flat-footed. It came in the form of a technical motion to recommit the entire bill, with instructions to the Foreign Affairs Committee to report it back immediately with the cut.

Republicans argued that the economic aid funds could be cut because European nations, already given billions of American aid, are in a position to carry more of the load themselves.

Democrats countered with the claim that European economic recovery has progressed to the point that the extra money requested by the President would put them on a sound footing and help them produce most of their own military supplies.

Bad Risk, Says Rayburn.

Speaker Rayburn (Dem.), Texas, called it a bad risk to save several hundred million dollars at a possible cost of 500 billion dollars later should a slow-down in Euro-

ORE WITH ATOMIC USE FOUND IN KOREA TAGGED FOR RUSSIA

KUMHWA, Korea, Aug. 18 (AP)—Ore containing beryllium, a rare metal of atomic energy value, was found in North Korea recently by American soldiers. It was in sacks with Russian markings.

It was not disclosed how the beryllium was identified.

The sacked ore was discovered on a Korean truck near this town recently wrested from the Communists. North Korean civilians said the ore came from the Panok tungsten mines five miles from Kumhwa.

The Panok mines are comparatively small. It was said about 500 miners were sent recently 60 miles north to work the larger Koksan tungsten mines.

The United States Atomic Energy Commission has rated beryllium as a possible "moderator," a material which can "slow down" neutrons and thus keep a chain reaction regulated.

HURRICANE SINKS SHIPS, DAMAGES JAMAICA CAPITAL

Plane Pilot Radios Miami From Kingston — Airport Facilities Badly Hit.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 18 (AP)—A tropical hurricane which raked Kingston, capital of Jamaica, during the night, sank several ships and caused "a great deal of damage" in the city of 120,000, a plane pilot reported by radio today.

Capt. Wilford W. Salter, pilot of a Pan American Airways cargo clipper, circled Kingston at 2000 feet for half an hour about noon.

"Extensive damage at Kingston. Waterfront has a great deal of damage," he reported by radio to his Miami base.

"Shipping is scattered out in the bay and several ships are overturned. The airport is extensively damaged and airport facilities practically demolished."

Capt. Salter was scheduled to land but reported "the runway looks all right but much water and no way to tell if there are holes. No facilities operating at the airport." He continued on to Barranquilla, Columbia.

Earlier a fragmentary report from Kingston ended 18 hours of silence and reported the city exprienced winds of "80 to 90 miles per hour or higher."

The report was received by Grady Norton, chief of the Miami Weather Bureau's storm warning service, from the Meterorological Office at Kingston.

Norton said the message had no indication why the well-equipped office at Kingston gave estimates instead of true wind readings, but he believed the instruments may have been disabled by the storm.

There was no mention of damage or loss of life.

Jamaica, rich island of banana and sugar plantations, has a population of 1,340,000. Until the message near noon, the island city had been cut off from the outside world since last night.

POLICEMEN'S HUNCH LEADS TO SOLDIER'S ARREST IN HOLDUP

A canny deduction by two policemen who linked a missing pistol in St. Louis county with a filling station robbery here led to issuance of a first-degree robbery warrant today against Elmer C. Kroeck, an 18-year-old soldier, absent without leave from Fort Campbell, Ky.

Kroeck, arrested at Mount Vernon, Ill., at request of St. Louis police, was charged with the $85 holdup of Robert E. Hedrick, a filling station attendant at 3349 South Broadway, Aug. 7.

Examining the robbery report, Cpl. Walter Dorn and Patrolman Virgil Kleine noted the report of a stolen pistol from a St. Louis county home. The description of the pistol tallied with the description of the weapon used in the filling station holdup.

Acting on a hunch, the officers interviewed the owner of the missing pistol and learned he was a relative of Kroeck. Then, police learned Kroeck was visiting a friend at Mount Vernon. Authorities there had just picked him up on a peace disturbance charge when police telephoned to arrest him. The soldier is in city jail.

REDS REPORT 'FIRST STEP' TOWARD SOLVING DEADLOCK

Adm. Joy Warns Acceptance of 38th Parallel Truce Line Would Be 'Foolhardy.'

By PETER KALISCHER

UNITED NATIONS ADVANCE BASE BELOW KAESONG, Korea, Aug 18 (UP)—A four-man armistice subcommittee got down to details around a map today at its second session in quest of a compromise Korean cease-fire line.

The talks are being held strictly off-the-record and no official report of progress was made.

But a pooled dispatch from Kaesong said the four generals—two American, one North Korean and one Chinese—were seen huddled over a map spread out on a conference table. They pointed to it as they talked. And they seemed to be speaking informally, and not from prepared statements.

Three-Hour Session.

The meeting lasted three hours and 19 minutes, with an hour and 59 minutes out for lunch. It continued through the sweltering afternoon, finally adjourning at 4:18 p.m. (1:18 a.m. St. Louis time.)

A third session was called for 11 a.m. tomorrow. (8 p.m. Saturday, St. Louis time.)

Hopes rose in the U.N. circles that the subcommittee would succeed in breaking the deadlock over location of a cease-fire line that deadlocked the last 16 meetings of the full truce delegations.

The optimism was buoyed by the continued good humor of the subcommittee members and a Peiping broadcast saying that the delegates at their first meeting Friday had "carried out the first-step discussions on the method of solving the deadlock."

Hopes of settling the knotty buffer zone problem were further enhanced by Red broadcasts quoting Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il as expressing willingness to discuss "adjustments" of a demilitarized area based on the thirty-eighth parallel.

Warning by Adm. Joy.

But V. Adm. C. Turner Joy, the chief U. N. truce negotiator, warned that it would "definitely be foolhardy, and perhaps be disastrous" to draw a cease-fire line along the thirty-eighth parallel as the Communists have demanded.

The Pyongyang Communist radio tonight broadcast a statement by the North Korean Premier and commander in chief, Kim Il Sung, calling on his entire people to defeat "the American aggressors" if the war continued.

Kim made the statement Wednesday, the broadcast said. It quoted him as saying the United States asked for a cease-fire conference because of "its military and moral defeat" but was delaying truce talks and trying to seize North Korean territory.

The main truce talks were recessed Thursday to give the sub-

RUSSIAN CASUALLY SETS DATE OF NEW LEND-LEASE TALKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (UP)—United States officials wondered today whether Russia had developed a new negotiating strategy.

A minor Soviet official who identified himself only as Myschkov wandered into the State Department late yesterday. Would the United States, he wanted to know, like to resume talks on Russia's $2,600,000,000 lend-lease account with America?

George Truesdell, a State Department specialist on the account, offered Myschkov a chair. The Russian declined, saying casually that he merely had dropped in to set a date for the next meeting.

So the meeting was set. American officials admitted they weren't too optimistic about ending the four-year stalemate over Russian payment for United States aid in World War II.

DEMOCRATS BEAM AT POLL ON BEST, WORST SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (UP)—The Democratic National Committee beamed today at the way Democratic Senators "walked away" with honors in a recent poll to determine the "10 best and 10 worst Senators."

The committee noted that not only had Paul H. Douglas, Illinois, been chosen "best Senator," but that the Republicans "won the 10 worst sweepstakes by an even wider margin than the Democrats took the 10 best contest."

The poll of Washington correspondents conducted by Pageant magazine placed seven Democrats on the 10 best list and eight Republicans on the 10 worst. Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, was declared the "worst."

Senator Robert A. Taft (Rep.), Ohio, appeared on both lists. That, according to the committee, displayed Taft's "unusual ability to be on all sides of all questions."

NUMBER OF CHILDREN HURT AT PERON FREE-TOY RALLY

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 18 (UP)—A number of children were treated today for bruises suffered in a scramble for free toys and candy at a stadium rally on behalf of President Juan D. Peron and his wife, Eva, who is being boomed for vice president on an election ticket with her husband.

The toys and candy were distributed to 30,000 lucky ones who got into Luna Park stadium yesterday. But 100,000 children and their parents were crowded out for lack of space.

Ambulances had difficulty getting through the crowd to pick up casualties. Many children fainted and a number were taken to hospitals and first-aid posts.

ALLIED ARTILLERY POUNDS REDS HARD AS JET FIGHTERS MEET IN 2 DUELS

Push Aimed at Straightening Line, Eliminating Bulge Where Enemy Could Observe Defenses.

By RICHARD APPLEGATE

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 18 (UP)—Thousands of United Nations troops attacked Communist positions along a 25-mile front today under cover of one of the biggest artillery bombardments of the Korean war.

In suddenly intensified aerial warfare, American Sabre Jets and Russian-built MIG-15s battled twice over northwest Korea. One Red plane probably was destroyed and one was damaged.

The infantrymen in the new offensive hacked out steady gains against fanatical Red resistance, to the accompaniment of Allied air strikes over the front lines and the thunder of the artillery.

The attack was made in the general area of the Hwachon reservoir, east of the old "Iron Triangle" bastion. It was made to straighten the line and eliminate a bulge in which the enemy was able to overlook the U.N. defense line.

Red Positions Pounded.

Allied guns emplaced far behind the lines poured hundreds of rounds of fire on the Communist positions. Under cover of their fire, the U.N. troops moved up slowly against an undetermined number of veteran Red troops.

"It's been a long time since I saw anything like the show those artillery boys put on," a U.N. soldier said.

Communist resistance was officially termed moderate to heavy along the 25-mile front.

In the first of two aerial dog fights over northwest Korea, about 30 enemy jets jumped a flight of 29 Sabres. One Communist plane was damaged before the Reds fled to the safety of their Manchurian sanctuary.

In the second battle 28 Sabres engaged 24 MIGs in a 10-minute battle which ranged between 15,000 and 35,000 feet.

Enemy Craft Spouts Flame.

First Lt. Charles F. Loyd, of Marion, Ky., made a probable kill when he put several bursts of .50 caliber machine guns into a MIG. The enemy plane spouted flame and dived toward the earth across the Yalu river in Manchuria.

It was the first big aerial warfare in five and one-half weeks.

The first group of enemy jets attacked the Americans while the F-86s were flying top cover for F-80 Shooting Stars working over rail lines near Sonchon, 35 miles south of the Manchurian border.

The fight lasted only five minutes.

First Lt. Buford A. Hammond of Middlesboro, Ky., was credited with damaging one MIG.

The red-nosed planes were believed to be from the Communists' crack MIG squadron.

Communists Attack Again.

On the west-central front, the Communists for the second straight day attacked high ground held by the Allies west of Yonchon, 35 miles north of Seoul. Two atacks were repulsed, but a third touched off a battle that still was under way at a late hour.

Farther west, Allied and Communist patrols exchanged fire outside the five-mile neutral zone surrounding the cease-fire conference city of Kaesong.

Both sides threw platoon to company-sized units into the almost continual fighting for strategic hills north of Yanggu and Inje on the eastern front.

B-26s bombed three Communist supply trains trying to use the railroad from Namsi and Chongju to northwest Korea Friday night for the first time in several weeks. Two were probably destroyed and the other damaged seriously.

U.N. naval units kept up their non-stop bombardment of both east and west coasts.

Some British Embassy Doormen Are Paid More Than Diplomats

LONDON, Aug. 18 (AP) — An economy-minded parliamentary committee asked today whether some of Britain's embassies abroad couldn't do without their fancy doormen, some of whom get more money than junior diplomats stationed in London.

The House of Commons's Select Committee on Estimates — parliamentary watchdog over expenditures—published the results of its investigation into the high cost of running the country's far-flung embassies.

The report says the British Embassy doorman gets £5 ($14) weekly pay plus £22 ($63) in special overseas allowance—well above the level of some of his superiors back home.

The committee pointed out the continually increasing cost of running foreign missions. In 1939 the entire foreign service cost £1,893,418 ($7,611,540.36 at the 1939 rate of $4.02 to the pound.) In 1952 the bill is expected to be £38,468,000 ($107,710,400 at the present rate of $2.80 to the pound).

BITTEN BY COPPERHEAD, USES THE SNAKE AS A TOURNIQUET

Texan Kills Reptile, Wraps It Around Hand Until He Reaches Hospital for Treatment.

SINTON, Tex., Aug. 18 (AP)—Hospital attendants stared in amazement last night when Henry Machado, 30-year-old farm worker, walked into Sinton Hospital with a copperhead wrapped around his hand.

Machado told attendants the snake had bitten him on the hand and he killed it. He said he then picked it up and wrapped it around the hand.

Attendants said the snake tourniquet apparently served its purpose satisfactorily, because Machado was in good condition after receiving treatment.

BRITISH DEMAND IRAN ACCEPT PLAN OR FACE COLLAPSE OF TALKS ON OIL

Ultimatum, Given Few Hours Before Showdown Session, Threatens Withdrawal of Last Plant Experts.

TEHRAN, Aug. 18 (UP)—British negotiators have given Iran an ultimatum to bow to Britain's eight-point proposals or accept collapse of oil talks and consequent loss of revenue.

The tough statement came from chief British oil negotiator Richard Stokes a few hours before a scheduled showdown session in the oil nationalization dispute.

Stokes said Britain was prepared to withdraw its remaining 150 oil experts from Iran almost immediately unless a speedy settlement was reached.

Harriman Told of Move.

United States presidential adviser W. Averell Harriman, who persuaded the two countries to resume oil negotiations last month, has been informed of the British ultimatum, Stokes said.

After almost a week of soft talking, Stokes declared in unequivocal terms that his eight-point proposals disclosed Wednesday must form the basis for a settlement, although he was willing to negotiate details of them.

Iran has not formally committed itself on the proposals but top officials said they fall far short of Iran's nationalization desires.

Matin Daftari, member of the Iranian oil board, said Iran's reply would not constitute an outright rejection of the British proposal.

Meanwhile, Harriman had two half-hour audiences with the Shah.

"Best Offer," Stokes Says.

"I want to repeat that I must stand on the principles of my eight-point proposals," Stokes said. "They are the best offer I can make, I have no alternative. On details within these principles, I am prepared to negotiate."

British officials indicated Stokes would return to London immediately if Iran opposed the eight points in tonight's critical session.

Stokes's proposals call for a British-run purchasing organization to market Iran's oil and a 50-50 split between the two countries in oil revenue. They acknowledge Iran's ownership of the oil industry, however, and would turn over all holdings of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. to a purely Iranian concern.

Moslem fanatics knifed six policemen trying to break up an anti-British rally yesterday. More than a dozen leaders of the nationalistic Fedayan Islam (Crusaders for Islam) were arrested.

FRANCE, U.N. SIGN PACT FOR PARIS INTERNATIONAL ZONE

PARIS, Aug. 18 (AP)—France and the United Nations signed a treaty today by which a small section in central Paris will become international territory for several months this year.

The section is the area of the Palais de Chaillot, lying just across the Seine river from the Eiffel Tower. The U.N. General Assembly will meet there Nov. 6 for a session expected to last well into 1952.

U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman signed the agreement. Lie, who flew here from Geneva, inspected construction work on a five-story temporary office building being erected to house U.N. offices and secretariat during the assembly meeting.

BOWLES SAID TO BE TRUMAN'S CHOICE FOR ENVOY TO INDIA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—President Truman was reported today to have decided to name Chester Bowles, former Connecticut governor and federal price administrator, to succeed Loy Henderson as Ambassador to India.

Henderson will replace Henry Grady as Ambassador to Iran. Grady is scheduled to retire early next month.

Originally Grady had wanted to withdraw from active diplomatic service in early summer. But when the oil crisis between Iran and Britain came up he offered to stay on until September.

Six More Communist Leaders Arrested in Roundup by FBI

Pennsylvania-West Virginia Group Brings to 46 Reds Accused Under Smith Act.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Identification rounded up six more Communist leaders yesterday and charged them with plotting to overthrow the Government by force.

The arrests were the fourth round in the big hunt for Communists which began after a Supreme Court decision last June upheld the conviction of 11 top Reds charged with violating the Smith Act. That law makes it a crime to teach or advocate the forceful overthrow of the Government.

The arrests, all involving men now or formerly from the Pennsylvania-West Virginia area, brought to 46 the number of Communists accused under the Smith Act since the Supreme Court decision. Four of these have not been found, and four of the convicted 11 top leaders jumped bail instead of surrendering to begin serving their terms.

Steve Nelson, 47 years old, described by the FBI as schooled in espionage and sabotage in Moscow, was among those seized in the latest roundup. He has been chairman of the Communist party of western Pennsylvania since July 1948.

The House Un-American Activities Committee has accused him of obtaining secrets for Russia from the wartime radiation laboratory at the University of California, which did atomic bomb research.

Nelson was arrested in Philadelphia. James Hulse Dolsen, 65, western Pennsylvania representative of the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, was arrested in Nelson's Pittsburgh home.

The others arrested, together with the FBI's identification of their Communist connections, are:

William Albertson, 41, of Detroit, formerly organizational secretary for western Pennsylvania. Albertson was arrested in his automobile between Detroit and Flat Rock, Mich. He is a native of Russia.

Benjamin Lowell Careathers Sr., about 60, treasurer of the Communist party of western Pennsylvania. The FBI said he has been described as "probably the best known Communist in the city of Pittsburgh." He was arrested in Pittsburgh.

Andrew Rudolph Onda, 46, steel organizer for the Communist party in western Pennsylvania. He was arrested in Pittsburgh.

Irving Weissman, 38, former district chairman of West Virginia, now assigned to national headquarters in New York. The FBI said Weissman went to Spain in 1937 in the Spanish civil war. He served in the United States Army in World War II. He was picked up at the New York Public Library.

The Justice Department said all six would be tried in Pittsburgh.

WEDDING REHEARSAL 'GUESTS' ARE POLICE, BEST MAN JAILED

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 18 (INS)—Charles Mungioli may be the best man at a wedding in a Camden church today, but his luck is probably the worst.

Two uninvited guests sat in a rear pew at the wedding rehearsal last night, and beckoned him when it was over. Quietly they presented him with a court order telling him he was in arrears in support payments for his 4-year-old daughter.

"I saw you sitting there," he said, "but I thought you were just guests."

"We always try to behave nicely," said the detectives, "especially at weddings."

Then they took the best man to spend the night in jail, while relatives took up a collection to meet the payments so Charles could be best man today.

SPAIN WOULD LET RED CHINA OBSERVE RADIO CONFERENCE

GENEVA, Aug. 18 (AP)—Spain surprised the conference of the International Telecommunications Union yesterday by suggesting Red China be admitted as an observer.

Spanish delegate Luis Rodriguez Miguel made the proposal after the Soviet delegation sought to unseat the Chinese Nationalist delegation.

Rodriguez Miguel said his suggestion was based on "technical and practical considerations." He pointed out that the Chinese Communists control many radio stations in China.

The conference is preparing a list of frequencies to safeguard radio communications and eliminate interference.

TRIAL IN ABSENTIA LIKELY FOR TWO IN OSS MAN'S DEATH

Italian Court Official Says Chances for Extraditing Americans Appear Slim.

TURIN, Italy, Aug. 18 (UP)—An Italian court will try two Americans in absentia if they are not extradited to face charges of murdering their commanding officer in Italy during a World War II cloak-and-dagger mission, a court official said today.

Roberto Borghese, procurator-general of the Turin tribunal, said the prospects for extradition from the United States of former Lt. Aldo Icardi and former Sgt. Carl G. LoDolce appeared to be "slim."

"But there is no doubt that the trial of the Americans . . . will be held in absentia if they are not extradited," Borghese said.

He said the trial would be held either at Verbania or Novarra. It was expected the trial would be in either September or November.

The Americans have been charged along with two Italian partisans with the murder in 1944 of Maj. William V. Holohan. The major headed an Office of Strategic Services mission behind the Nazi lines in Italy. Icardi and Lo Dolce were members of the mission.

The two Italians, Giuseppe Mannini and Gualtiero Tozzini, are at present in prison at Verbania, near the scene of the murder on Lake Dorta.

Italian police said Mannini and Tozzini confessed their complicity in the murder and named Icardi and LoDolce as the "key figures."

Borghese said in an interview that treaty provisions between the United States and Italy appeared to rule out the extradition of the two Americans.

In any event, he said, the court's request for the extradition "has not yet been formulated and the possibility of obtaining it now appears slim."

DRIVER, 85, GETS LENIENCY FOR ONLY TICKET IN 40 YEARS

VAN NUYS, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP)—"One violation in 40 years of driving is something of a record."

That's what the judge told Hans Brekke, 85 years old, yesterday upon handing him a one-day suspended sentence for turning against a red light.

Brekke was found driving with a 17-year-old license, entitling him to operate only a model-T Ford, when he committed the lone error on June 24.

"Got the license fixed for my new (1929) model-A," remarked Brekke after he was picked up. "Now I'm set for another 40 years."

RED CROSS SEEKS $10,000,000 FOR MIDWEST FLOOD RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (UP)—With only seven weeks of its fiscal year elapsed, the American Red Cross warned yesterday that all of its disaster funds already are expended or committed.

In a letter to all Red Cross chapters, President E. Roland Harriman requested them to lift their sights to $10,000,000 in the current emergency flood relief fund drive. About $2,700,000 has come in so far, he said.

The Midwest flood damage will take at least $10,000,000 in Red Cross funds to aid in rehabilitation, he said, with 27,[illegible] families

ITALIAN AND JAP EXECUTED BY REDS IN 'PLOT' IN CHINA

4 Other Foreigners Get Prison Terms for Alleged U.S.-Backed Plan to Kill Mao.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Peiping radio announced today the execution of an Italian and a Japanese accused of organizing an American-backed plot to assassinate Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung last fall.

The broadcast said Antonio Rivan, 55 years old, and Rinichi Yamaguchi, 47, were executed late yesterday in the Red Chinese capital. The Peiping radio yesterday denounced the accused as "spies" for the United States.

Observers in Hong Kong expressed fear the Red announcement signified a new turn in Peiping's campaign against foreigners and that the purge by execution squads going on in Red Cina might be extended to non-Chinese.

Charge Denied by U.S.

The State Department in Washington and the United States military attache on Formosa immediately denied the spying charge. The Red radio said Col. David D. Barrett hired the "spies" while attache in Peiping.

"I never at any time," said Barrett at Taipeh, Formosa "either on my own initiative or on orders of any agency of the United States government attempted to assassinate or contrive the assasination of anyone."

The Boulder, (Colo.) soldier added that while in Peiping he never spent a cent on intelligence agents. He left Peiping Feb. 6, 1950.

The State Department in a statement backed him up, saying any assertion that he was the instigator of such a plot "is a barefaced lie."

"It will be obvious to anyone," said Washington, "that allegations of this sort are deliberately false and are designed to contribute to the current and virulent 'hate America' campaign being conducted by the Peiping regime."

Six Foreigners Sentenced.

The Peiping radio said Rivan was a merchant and Yamaguchi a bookseller. It said two other Italians, a Frenchman and a German were sentenced to prison terms ranging from life down to five years.

The broadcast said the alleged plotters planned to fire a trench mortar and smaller weapons at a reviewing stand in Peiping Oct. 1, 1950, when Mao and other Red big-wigs were to review a national day parade.

Msgr. Tarciscio Martina, 64, bishop of Yihhsien diocese in Hopeh province who also was representative in Peiping of apostolic delegate Antonio Riberi of Nanking, was given a life sentence. Riberi is under house arrest in Nanking on an unnamed charge.

Others sentenced were: Henri Vetch, 52, a Frenchman who owned a bookstore, 10 years; Quirino Victor Gerli, 56, an Italian formerly in the Chinese maritime customs service, six years; Walter Genther, 39, a German trader, five years, and Ma Hsin-ching, a Chinese business man, nine years.

SENATE GROUP FOR CZECH TRADE BAR TILL OATIS IS FREED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday unanimously approved and sent to the Senate a resolution calling on the United States to suspend trade relations with Czechoslovakia until William N. Oatis is freed from jail.

Oatis, an Associated Press correspondent, is serving a 10-year prison sentence in Czechoslovakia for alleged espionage. His trial has been widely denounced as a fraud.

The resolution also asks United States officials to "take all possible action" to obtain Oatis's freedom. The resolution is not mandatory on United States officials but expresses the sentiments of Congress.

The House previously approved the resolution by a vote of 362 to 1.

PACIFIC SUBMARINE CHIEF GIVES WARNING ON MINES

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP)—The Navy's top submarine commander in the Pacific says he believes mines would prove to be one of the enemy's most destructive weapons in a new world war.

Without referring to Russia as the country's most likely enemy in a new war, R. Adm. Charles B. Momsen said yesterday the Russians were "the most mine-minded people in the world."

"And," he added, "using mines is a way to fight a poor man's war."

Adm. Momsen, Pacific fleet submarine force commander, came here from his Pearl Harbor headquarters for an inspection of submarines and submarine repair units.

Egyptians Reject Channel Prize, Say Donor Slanders King Farouk

LONDON, Aug. 18 (UP)—Three Egyptians rejected $4200 prize money in the English channel swimming race, accusing the London Daily Mail of "slandering" Egypt's King Farouk, the newspaper reported today.

The flareup occurred at Folkestone Friday night after a cup and a $2800 check were handed the winner, Mareeh Hassan Hammad of Farouk's Royal Egyptian bodyguard. Checks for $700 were handed two of his teammates for completing the swim in the Daily Mail contest.

Sabri Bey, spokesman for the Egyptians, accused the Daily Mail of printing "abusive" and "untrue" reports about Farouk. He said the Egyptian swimmers "are declining the prize money in protest against the ceaseless attacks on their king."

Farouk's name has been frequently in the news in connection with his marital and gambling ventures.

(Informed sources in Cairo said the three Egyptians acted on orders from their government. They were promised "liberal" compensation for the action, the informants said.)

10 IN JORDAN GO ON TRIAL CHARGED IN KING'S MURDER

Two Accused of Taking Part in Plot to Kill Abdullah Being Tried in Absentia.

AMMAN, Aug. 18 (AP)—The trial of 10 persons charged with plotting the July 20 assassination of Jordan's King Abdullah opened at Antelby Camp near here today before a special military court.

The indictment against the men, three of whom are relatives of Haj Amin el Husseini, exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, accused them of "plotting, abetting and inducing the assassination of King Abdullah." Two of the accused are being tried in absentia, since they are living in Cairo.

Abdullah, one of the most powerful figures in the Middle East, was shot and killed in the Jordan-held old city of Jerusalem as he was going to the tomb of his father in the Mosque of Omar. His assassin, a 21-year-old Moslem tailor who was said to be a follower of the Mufti, was killed on the spot by Abdullah's bodyguard.

Under Heavy Guard.

The eight defenants present for the trial were brought in under heavy guard.

The Rev. Ibrahim Ayyad, Roman Catholic secretary of the Latin patriarchate in Jerusalem, and Dr. Mousa Abdullah el Husseini, one of the Mufti's cousins, were the first two defendants to appear before the three-man tribunal. They both pleaded "not guilty."

The prosecutor general told the court Father Ayyad had said during his investigation that "if King Abdullah was not assassinated, I would have murdered him myself." Father Ayyad flatly denied this as "absolutely untrue."

The prosecutor said Abdullah el Tell, one of the two being tried in absentia, was the king pin of the conspiracy. He said the other absent one, Mousa Ahmed il Ayyoubi, was the liaison between El Tell and Mousa el Husseini.

Prosecutor's Charge.

The assassination plot, said the prosecutor, was hatched in El Tell's Cairo home.

Jordan formally asked Egypt today to hand over El Tell, a former Jordan army officer who broke with Abdullah in 1949 and sought sanctuary in Egypt.

The others accused at the trial: Dr. Daoud el Husseini, a dentist, and Tewfuk Saleh el Husseini, both cousins of the Mufti.

Abed Mahmoud Okkah and his younger brother, Zakaria, Jerusalem cattle merchants.

Kamel Abdullah el Kalouti, also a Jerusalem cattle merchant.

Abdel Kader Harahat, the eighth prisoner, has confessed to participating in the assassination plot, Jordan authorities said, as have Abed Mahmoud Okkah and his brother Zakaria.

El Husseini said in court that the charges were "intentionally forged" against him. He declared in a trembling voice that he was innocent.

RITA TO LET COURTS SET SUM FOR ALY'S DAUGHTER

PARIS, Aug. 18 (AP)—Rita Hayworth's lawyer said today she has given up trying to reach a friendly financial settlement with Prince Aly Khan and will let the courts decide how much he must pay for support of baby Princess Yasmin.

Attorney Bartley Crum said Miss Hayworth will start her divorce action against the Moslem prince "within a week or 10 days."

Neither Crum nor Aly's lawyer, Charles Torem, would say exactly what the offers and counter offers had been in the settlement talks. Other sources, however, revealed that Rita had something like $150,000 a year in mind for the child and that Aly had offered $8000.

CRETAN WHO CARRIED OFF 'GIRL TO MARRY HER FREED

ATHENS, Aug. 18 (AP)—Costa Kephaloyannis, dashing Cretan lover who carried off the daughter of a rival family to the mountains and married her last August, was freed from prison today. An early reunion with his dark-eyed wife, Tassoula, was in prospect. She is visiting relatives in Macedonia.

King Paul commuted Costa's two-year sentence to 14 months. He was tried last February on charges of illegal possession of weapons.

He has been in custdy since Sept. 1. With time off for good behavior and double time credited for serving at the rural prison at Nafiion, he now has served 14 months.

McCloy Cheered by Red German Youths for Answers on Policy

High Commissioner Spends Two Hours With Group Which Slipped Away From Peace Festival.

BERLIN, Aug. 18 (AP)—United States High Commissioner John J. McCloy played answer man for a group of visiting East German quiz kids yesterday and won cheers for his explanations of Western policy.

The Communist-indoctrinated youths met McCloy when they slipped away from East Berlin's giant Red peace festival for a look at the American radio station (RIAS) in democratic West Berlin.

Blue-shirted youngsters—numbering several hundreds—bombarded the American leader with political questions which he spent two hours answering.

West German Parliament member Peter Helles who was also present asked them if Gen. Vassily Chuikov, head of the Soviet control commission, would undergo the same type of questioning.

"No!" they roared in reply.

"Message of Hope."

In answer to numerous questions about German unity, McCloy said:

"I have a real message of hope for you. . . . We intend to do everything we can to restore freedom not only to one part of Germany but to all of it. So keep your faith."

McCloy said there was no real formula for bringing this about but that the West would apply steady pressure.

He said the West was rearming because it disarmed after World War II and Russia did not. Now, he said, it is necessary to counter Russian power so people can sit down without fear to work out their problems.

McCloy shot back at a query as to whether bad working conditions in the United States might bring about Communism.

Cites Living Standard.

"The American standard of living is the highest of any nation in the world," he said. "The Russians scold about capitalism, but it is a fact that almost every American has his own car. The American worker might have even better conditions some day, but probably not before he gets to heaven."

The final questioner wanted to know why the United States Army stopped at the Elbe in 1945.

"It was a mistake," McCloy admitted, "but we could not know that beforehand. We were partners of the Russians those days in putting down Nazi aggression and had every reason to believe we would be partners in peace as well as war."

Closing Spectacle.

East Berlin Communists beat the drums today to get out a big crowd for the closing spectacle of their giant youth "peace" festival—an open-air mass meeting tomorrow evening, complete with fireworks.

The Red leaders aimed at a turnout of half a million people to jam Red Square, the Marx-Engles platz, and Unter den Linden avenue. They summoned the civilian population to join the youth for the demonstration.

Featured speaker will be East German Premier Otto Grotewohl.

Speeches also were scheduled by leading festival delegates from the Soviet Union, Red China, the United States, France and England.

The blue-shirted free German youth (FDJ) will hold another "peace" march—but on a smaller scale than last Sunday's big parade. To fill the ranks the Communists brought a new mass of East German youngsters into town. This was the last shift of visitors for the festival, which is closing after a two-week run.

Reds Claim Success.

Communist leaders already have begun issuing statements hailing the festival as a "mighty success in our fight to preserve the peace."

What flaws the Reds admit, they are blaming on "sabotage attempts of reactionary governments" and the "West Berlin tools of the imperialists."

The Communists issued a communique extending their referendum against (West) German remilitarization and called on all Germans to join "in a solid front against the imperialist war threat." The referendum is barred in West Germany and West Berlin.

$7,498,000,000 FOREIGN AID BILL VOTED BY HOUSE

pean recovery tempt Russia to start an all-out war.

The bill as it cleared the House authorizes these allotments:

Europe: $5,028,000,000 in military aid and $985,000,000 in economic aid, a cut of $265,000,000 in military and $690,000,000 in economic aid.

Near East and Africa: $415,000,000 in military aid, no reduction, and $175,000,000 in economic aid, a boost of $50,000,000 for rehabilitation of Jewish refugees.

Asia and the Pacific: $530,000,000 in military aid, a $25,000,000 cut; $237,500,000 in economic aid, a $25,000,000 cut, and $11,250,000 for Korean rehabilitation, a cut of $101,250,000.

American Republics: $40,000,000 in military aid and $22,000,000 in economic and technical aid. No cuts.

Expansion of Strategic Materials Development: $55,000,000 for the whole program instead of that amount for western Europe mainly.

There were only minor changes in the Foreign Affairs Committee proposal that the entire aid program be handled by an independent administrator named by the President with Senate approval.

Republican Amendment.

An amendment by Representative Vorys (Rep.), Ohio, made it clear that the President could not retain for himself, and then delegate to new organizations of his own choosing or existing organizations, any of the powers intended for the administrator.

Before getting around to the Reece amendment cutting European economic aid, the House took these actions by standing or voice votes:

Defeated separate amendments to cut $200,000,000 and $328,000,000 from European arms aid and $300,000,000 and $672,000,000 from European economic aid.

Sidetracked an amendment to specify that Spain should get some of the European funds. The amendment was withdrawn after assurances from Foreign Affairs Committee members that Spain almost certainly would be cut in on the arms program under powers the President now has.

Defeated an amendment to withhold economic aid from any nation (Italy was named because 'Lucky' Luciano lives there) that allows its nationals to traffic in drugs intended for illegal distribution in the United States.

Approved an amendment allowing refugees from Soviet-dominated areas to form units to serve with western European defense forces financed with American aid.

Defeated an amendment to require Senate approval before the President could allot any of the military funds to nations not members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Defeated an amendment to cut $35,000,000 from economic funds for Africa and the Near East.

Defeated an amendment to cut out the $50,000,000 fund for Jewish refugees and resettlement projects in Israel.

Defeated an amendment to cut $50,000,000 from military aid for the general area of China.

Defeated an amendment to cut Central and South American arms aid from $40,000,000 to $20,000,000.

TRUCE GROUP GETS DOWN TO DETAILS AROUND A MAP

committee a chance to try to find a way out of the deadlock in informal secret talks.

The Communists had been demanding a cease-fire demarcation line and buffer zone along the thirty-eighth parallel. The Allies had insisted that both should be generally along the present battle line, which runs up to 30 miles north of the parallel in the east.

Delegates Replaced.

Maj. Gen. Laurence C. Craigie, vice-commander of the Far East Air Forces, replaced R. Adm. Arleigh C. Burke as the second U.N. delegate at the second subcommittee meeting.

There was no immediate explanation of the shift. However some sources speculated that naval problems might have been discussed at Friday's session and air force problems at Saturday's meeting.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, deputy chief of staff of the Eighth Army, remained top man in the U.N. subcommittee.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho and Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang represented the Communists.

It was during the morning session that the delegates were observed poring over a map. At times, several delegates spoke at once. The map was on the oblong conference table near the small round table where the conferees sit.

Limit on Reporters.

Both sides again limited the number of newspaper men permitted to enter Kaesong. There were three U.N. correspondents and four Communists—one of them a newcomer, Tibor Merai, a Hungarian reporter for the Budapest Szabad Nep, organ of the Hungarian Workers' (Communist) party.

Merai said he had been in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, during the "largest air raid of war" a few days ago. He asserted it killed mostly women and children.

Adm. Joy's statement was issued at this advance base with the explanation that it had been read at the Kaesong talks, but without saying when. It appeared to be part of the U.N. argument for a cease-fire line along the present battle front.

Text of Joy's Statement.

Following is the text of the statement:

"The primary mission of every military commander is to insure the security of his forces at all times. It is a paramount and inescapable obligation of which we must never lose sight.

"Some people confuse the ending of World War I and World War II, which saw one side the victor and the other side the vanquished, with the situation existing in Korea today.

"Here we have two combat effective military organizations, whose delegations are attempting to reach agreement on a military armistice between these two military-forces-in-being.

"Both forces are capable of continuing their military action.

"International law specifically defines an armistice as a temporary suspension of hostilities, and just as specifically points out that hostilities may be resumed by either side if proper prior notification is given.

Foolhardy to Expose Forces.

"Thus it can be seen that it would definitely be foolhardy, and perhaps be disastrous, for either commander to expose his forces along a political demarcation line rather than to place them in a sound militarily defensible position where they can protect themselves in the unfortunate event hostilities should be resumed.

"The sole objective of the U.N. command delegation is a military armistice, based on military realities.

"These armistice negotiations are an essential prelude to any eventual long-time solution of the Korean problem.

"These military components of the U.N. command are being employed effectively in Korea today: The ground forces, air forces and naval forces.

"The enemy has only one of these forces at his disposal, namely his land army. His other two forces, ineffective even at their peak, have been shot from the skies or driven from the sea.

"A military armistice will be applicable to our air and naval forces as well as our ground forces. Inexorable pressure these two forces are now exerting on the enemy's rear area will be relieved.

"He will be able to refurbish his military machine, regroup and resupply his fighting forces, and thus substantially increase his relative overall military effectiveness.

U.N. at Peak Efficiency.

"On the other hand, the U.N. command today is already at peak efficiency, well organized in combat formations and well supplied with all of the weapons of war.

"The net effect of any armistice will be of greater military advantage to the enemy that it will to us.

"We have a solemn obligation to our fighting men to afford them maximum security during the armistice.

"An ever-increasing military threat capable of being launched from across a few kilometers of any demilitarized zone which is based on an imaginary parallel of latitude would be intolerable.

"We must retain defensive positions.

BANKER PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN $600,000 THEFT

Accused of Using Part of Sum to Buy Presidency — Can't Raise $50,000 Bond.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 18 (AP)—Ludwig R. Schlekat, president of the Parnassus National Bank in nearby New Kensington, pleaded not guilty yesterday to taking $600,000 in bank funds but federal officers accuse him of buying the presidency with part of the loot.

The banker pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Edward Snodgrass Jr., and said he still was unable to raise $50,000 bond. Snodgrass ordered Schlekat back to his Allegheny county jail cell pending grand jury action.

Edward Tefft, chief of the liquidation division of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. said auditors found Schlekat used bank funds to gain control of the institution.

Tefft said that when Charles C. Alter, former bank president, decided to retire in 1947 he sold his controlling stock to two men he thought were Cleveland residents through an agent who has since died. The price was $254,000.

Tefft said it developed in the last few days that the agent was working for Schlekat, a bank employe since 1928 who by 1947 had risen to assistant cashier at $200 a month. Tefft said the Clevelanders were non-existent.

At the 1947 reorganization meeting, the agent voted the stock in favor of Schlekat for president.

BABY IS FOUND SUFFOCATED IN CRIB AT HOME

Leonard A. Young, 10-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Young, 2933 Eads avenue, was found suffocated in his crib at home this afternoon.

The mother told police she gave the baby a bottle about 8 o'clock this morning, then decided to lie down on the bed near the crib and rest while the baby was taking the bottle.

She fell asleep, she said, and did not awaken until shortly after noon. She found the baby with his face buried in the pillow in the crib. Police reported the infant apparently had been dead for some time.

8 KILLED BY HUKS IN AMBUSH OF ARMY CARS NEAR AIRFIELD

MANILA, Aug. 18 (AP)—Communist Huks killed eight persons last night when they ambushed an army weapons carrier and armored car in Pampanga province. Seven others were injured. The Huks escaped.

The dead included four soldiers, two military intelligence agents and two women. Wounded were a lieutenant, two soldiers, two government agents and two women.

The weapons carried was only a short distance from an army airfield near Angeles when about 100 Huks opened fire from both sides of the highway. The armored car raced to the rescue and was caught in the deadly fire.

British to Buy U.S. Apples.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The State Department informed Northwestern Congressmen today that the British government plans to buy at least $3,500,000 worth of apples in North America during the next 12 months.

Knocked Off Bridge, Drowns.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 18 (AP)—A 63-year-old carpenter drowned in the Hillsborough river when he was knocked from a bridge by timbers on a truck. W. W. Hudson was a member of a railroad crew working on the bridge.

MO. PAC. TO BUILD AN ELEVATED LINE SOON, ABANDONING POPLAR ST. TRACK

State P.S.C. Grants Authority for Project as Part of Plan to Eliminate 5 Hazardous Grade Crossings.

Missouri Pacific Railroad will abandon its Poplar street tracks in St. Louis soon and construct a new elevated line as part of a plan to eliminate five dangerous grade crossings, it was learned today.

Authority for the change was given by the Missouri Public Service Commission yesterday.

The proposed rearrangement of tracks will include elimination of a grade crossing with the route of the proposed Third Street interregional highway and facilitate development of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial site on the river front.

Grade crossings to be eliminated under the plan, in addition to Third Street, are at Fourth street, Broadway, Sixth and Seventh streets.

Approved by City.

The project, pending for some time, has the approval of the city of St. Louis, State Highway Commission, Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the United States District Court, in which a Missouri Pacific reorganization plan is pending.

Estimated cost of the track rearrangement is $1,240,000. The commission said the city of St. Louis had agreed to contribute $225,000 of this amount, the State Highway Commission $641,670 in connection with the interregional highway project, and the Missouri Pacific $373,330.

In approving the proposal the commission said the five grade crossings to be eliminated "are a real potential danger to the traveling public, as well as a source of delay to railroad trains and vehicular traffic."

The Missouri Pacific, under the plan, will abandon that portion of its Poplar street tracks from a point near the city wharf north of Plum street and extending westwardly in Poplar to the west line of Seventh.

As a substitute route the company will build a new single line of railroad track, the major portion of which will be elevated, as a part of the route between its Twelfth boulevard and its Lesperance street yards. The elevated structure will parallel the railroad approach to the MacArthur bridge, it was said.

Bridge Approach Crossing.

The project will include a crossing at grade of two main tracks of the city-owned Union Station approach to MacArthur bridge, overhead crossing of two existing tracks of the Manufacturers' Railway in Second street, and overhead crossing of the Missouri Pacific's two existing tracks in First street, in the vicinity of Cedar street.

The commission said the plan was the result of several years of co-operation and joint study by the Missouri Pacific, the City of St. Louis, the Highway Commission and the Federal Bureau of Roads, to avoid a crossing at grade of the Third Street interregional highway by the Poplar street track.

All five members of the commission concurred in the order.

RESIDENTS FACING EVICTION, TENEMENT CONDEMNED BY CITY

Negro residents of a 12-family tenement at 1507-15 North Fourteenth street faced eviction today after the structure was condemned by the city building commissioner.

Inspectors said the building, owned by Oral L. and Ray Muench, brothers, 4232 Kossuth street, is in weakened condition and in danger of collapse. They classed the structure as beyond repair.

Specifically, inspectors reported they found all exterior walls bulged, roof and floors weakened and sagging, supports for rear porches decayed, and plaster falling from ceilings.

19 Women Flyers Who Refueled Here Either in Detroit or on Way

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

Two contestants in the Powder Puff Air Derby, MRS. MARGARET W. CALLAWAY (left) and MISS LINDY BOYES, both of California, who stopped here yesterday at Lambert-St. Louis Field on their way to Detroit.

5 Late Arrivals Spend Night in St. Louis, Take Off for Finish Line—Several More in Powder Puff Derby Expected.

Nineteen contestants in the Powder Puff Air Derby, who refueled at Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday, had either reached Detroit, finish line in their cross-country race from California, or were on their way there today.

The 43 women in the race are not permitted to fly after dark. Five late arrivals spent last night in St. Louis and took off on the last lap of the 2348-mile race this morning. Six contestants arrived here Thursday and four more were expected today.

Those stopping at Lambert Field yesterday to refuel and freshen up were:

Patricia Hutchinson, San Diego, Calif.; Allen L. Pickering, San Pedro, Calif.; Irma Story, Lancaster, Calif.; Mrs. Margaret W. Callaway, Fairfield, Calif.; Lindy Boyes, Piedmont, Calif.; Iris Critchell, Redondo Beach, Calif.; Rosalie Bentley, Los Angeles; Claire McMillen, Santa Ana, Calif.; Frances Bera, Norwalk, Calif.; Mrs. Edna G. Whyte, Aberdeen, Miss.; Lucille Cheetham, Arkansas City, Kan.; Esther Gardiner, Waterford, Conn.; Evelyn Bryan, Jefferson City, Tenn.; Eddie Lee Griffin, Knoxville, Tenn.; Doris Langher and Lucy Kalla, both of Chicago; Patricia Phelps, San Diego, and Patricia Gladney and Margaret Standish, Sunnyvale, Calif.

Mayor Joseph M. Darst, through his secretary, Robert Smith, traded one of the 19 flyers a key to the city for a case of tuna fish. Miss Hutchinson, whose flight is sponsored by a California tuna packing firm, promised the case of fish in return for the key, which Smith handed to her at the airport. She said she will hang the key beside her trophy, if she wins the race.

Miss McMillen was beaten to the finish line by her fiance, who drove from California to Detroit. Michael Walter, of Santa Ana, saw Miss McMillen's take-off from California, then motored to Detroit and was on hand when she landed yesterday following her stopover here.

Ten pilots reached Detroit yesterday, while one, Mrs. Arlene Davis, of Cleveland, checked in Thursday. Second to arrive was Miss Betty Haas of San Francisco, who stopped here Thursday. Winners are determined, however, on elapsed time and handicaps based on the cruising speeds of the light planes.

The annual Powder Puff Derby is a feature of the National Air Races, now in progress at Detroit.

FPC AUTHORIZES UNDERGROUND GAS STORAGE PROJECT

Mississippi River Fuel Corp. of St. Louis was authorized by the Federal Power Commission yesterday to build natural gas underground storage facilities in the Waterloo (Ill.) oil field.

Estimated cost of the project, which is expected to be practically completed by December, is $2,953,125.

The company said the capacity of the storage project would be 13,284,000,000 cubic feet. A total of 1,329,000,000 cubic feet of gas will be required as a "cushion," with the remaining 11,955,000,000 cubic feet available for market in peak periods of use.

12,037 SEE 'OZ,' FIRST PARK OPERA SELL-OUT OF SEASON

Municipal Opera had its first sell-out crowd of the season last night when 12,037 persons witnessed the fifth performance of "The Wizard of Oz." Several hundred persons were turned away.

The record of 12,123 was set Aug. 20 last year at a performance of the Rodgers and Hammerstein Music Festival.

During the second act of the show last night one of the principals, Miss Dianne DeSanctos of New York, playing the part of Gloria, suddenly became ill and her part was taken over by her understudy, Miss Kathleen Richter, a St. Louisan and member of the singing ensemble.

Seats in the lower-price ranges are available for the sixth and seventh performances of "The Wizard of Oz" tonight and tomorrow, it was announced. On Monday night, the opera will open a two-week run of "The Great Waltz," final show of the season.

The show includes an elaborate fireworks display in the final act. Fireworks will be set off tomorrow between 3 a.m. and 4 a.m. during a dress rehearsal for the show.

BRITAIN LIMITS AUTO SALES AT HOME TO 80,000 IN 1952

LONDON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The government will permit British motor makers to sell only 80,000 cars on the home market in 1952. This probably will represent a cut of 20,000 cars for home sale compared with the current year.

British auto manufacturers are permitted this year to sell 80,000 cars in the United Kingdom, plus half of any production in excess of 460,000. They are now producing at an annual rate of 500,000, which would permit the sale of 100,000 cars at home.

Object of the limitation is to continue the present high rate of exports to help redress Britain's serious unbalance of foreign trade.

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Aug. 18 (AP)—Lawrence Walker, 20-year-old Negro, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday for the murder of Richard and Doris Cook on the desert near here March 26. Defense attorneys filed notice of appeal.

Walker is to go on trial Oct. 16 on the additional charges that he kidnaped and criminally assaulted Mrs. Betty Maund of Riverside prior to the Cook murders.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (AP) — Polish Consul Zygmunt Ziemski quit his job and Communist-led government yesterday to become a political refugee in Canada. He said Canada agreed to let him stay.

Ziemski said he thought over the step a long time, and the recent purge of high Polish army officials decided him. He cabled his resignation to Warsaw and announced it today to the Canadian Press.

4 ST. LOUIS AREA RESIDENTS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Dead Are Frank Hack, Frederick Hahn, James M. McFadden and Odell Staten.

Four St. Louis area residents were killed in automobile accidents last night and today. The dead were:

Frank Hack, 2902 Wisconsin avenue.

Frederick Hahn, Hack's brother-in-law, who lived at the same address.

James M. McFadden, 1814 North Leffingwell avenue.

Odell Staten, 1425 Central avenue, East St. Louis.

Hack, about 65 years old, and the unidentified man were killed today in a head-on collision on United States Highway 61 one mile north of Imperial, in Jefferson county. Hack's son, Arthur, suffered serious head and internal injuries and was taken to City Hospital.

In the other automobile, Miss Dorothy Salvaggio, 4346 Potomac street, the driver, suffered a fractured left leg, and Blair Brooks, Affton, suffered cuts and bruises. Both were taken to City Hospital, where their condition was said to be serious. Another passenger, Miss Charlotte Schmader, 4351 Oleatha avenue, was not hurt.

A neighbor of Hack said Hack and his son had left this morning on a vacation trip to New Orleans and were accompanied by Hahn. After the collision, the northbound automobile plunged down a 20-foot embankment.

McFadden, a foreman, was killed early today when struck by an automobile as he crossed Natural Bridge avenue at Spring avenue. He was 38 years old.

Driver of the automobile, Roy J. Benoist Jr., 1421 Clinton avenue, was going east in Natural Bridge. Benoist told police he didn't see McFadden, who was crossing Natural Bridge from the south, but stopped his machine when he felt the impact.

McFadden was pronounced dead at City Hospital. Benoist was booked on charges of careless driving and suspected of manslaughter.

Staten, a Negro, was killed last night when the automobile he was driving collided head on with another machine on United States Highway 66 near Litchfield, Ill.

Seven other persons, five of them in Staten's machine, were injured in the accident, the Illinois State Highway Patrol said. Those riding with Staten, all Negroes of East St. Louis, were: Mary Alice Lacy, 1307 Bowman avenue; Booker T. Washington and his wife, Mary, 315 South Tenth street; Mattie Burns, 1600 Missouri avenue, and Woodrow Washington, 1741 Piggott avenue. They were taken to St. Francis Hospital in Litchfield, about 60 miles northeast of St. Louis.

The driver of the other machine, Arnold M. Greenberg, and a passenger, both of Chicago, also were injured.

Mrs. Helen Dixon, 3322 Commonwealth avenue, suffered a fractured ankle in a bus-truck collision yesterday near Monroe City, Mo., in which 22 persons were injured.

Mrs. Dixon, a passenger on the bus, was taken to a hospital in Hannibal. The Missouri Highway Highway Patrol said the large trailer-truck, going east on United States Highway 36, apparently made a left turn in front of the westbound bus. An automobile struck the bus and truck immediately after the collision.

Four persons remained in hospitals in Alton and St. Louis today following an accident involving a Greyhound bus and an automobile five miles west of Effingham, Ill., on U.S. Highway 40 yesterday. None was injured seriously.

The bus, with 31 passengers aboard, collided with the automobile, swerved off the road, crashed through a corn field and came to rest in a 15-foot ravine 100 yards from the highway, Illinois highway police said.

U.S. CHECK FOR $2,000,000 IS TURNED OVER TO U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Aug. 18 (AP) — The United States turned over to the United Nations yesterday a check for $2,000,000.

It was an advance on the American pledge of $12,750,000 for the expanded technical assistance program for 1951. The United States has paid a total of $10,000,000 on the pledge.

LASATER RESIGNS AS STATISTICS BUREAU CHIEF

Action Follows Disclosure of $16,805 Shortage in Which He Denies Wrongdoing.

Jesse B. Lasater resigned yesterday as chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics. An audit has disclosed a shortage of $16,805 in that office.

Health Commissioner J. Earl Smith had announced earlier that Lasater would resign. Dr. Smith said he had told Lasater he would be dismissed if he did not submit his resignation.

Lasater, suspended when the shortage was disclosed 10 days ago, has stated he knew of a discrepancy in the accounts for years, but has denied any wrongdoing on his part.

He was arrested and released under bond pending completion of the investigation. The circuit attorney's office has refused to issue warrants against him, on the ground that, although the shortage probably resulted from criminal action, there was nothing to connect Lasater with it.

The shortage was discovered when the bureau asked the comptroller's office for additional birth certificate forms. Records in the comptroller's office indicated the bureau should have had on hand enough certificates to account for $11,500 in cash. The bureau had not turned the cash over to the comptroller's office and did not have the certificates.

An audit later set the shortage at $16,805, including cash that should have been refunded to applicants for birth certificates and now cannot be accounted for.

Lasater, 52 years old, had been in charge of the bureau since 1942. He was paid $341 a month and was bonded for $2000. He lives at 839 Melrose avenue.

JUDGE KEPT BUSY RESISTING 'FIXERS' OF TRAFFIC CASES

Brentwood Police Judge Edward T. Wright has discovered, after four months in office, that resisting attempts by politicians to get traffic cases "fixed" constitutes a major part of his judicial duties, he said today.

Most attempts involve speeding cases. He hears about 15 to 25 such cases every two weeks. Requests to cut the fine in half or let the defendant off with court costs are received in about a third of these. But none of the requests is granted, he said. He has suggested a system of minimum fines for first offenders as a means of taking some of the pressure off the judge.

The son of Denver M. Wright, big-game hunter and leather goods manufacturer, Judge Wright is the only white attorney to become a member of the Mound City Bar Association, a Negro organization. He lives at 8921 Moritz avenue, Brentwood.

LACLEDE GAS CO., CITY SUED FOR $125,000 IN BLAST

Suit for $125,000 damages was filed in circuit court yesterday by Harvey McKelvey, 21 Chestnut drive, Webster Groves, against the City of St. Louis and Laclede Gas Co., for injuries he said he suffered in an explosion last December.

McKelvey alleged he was burned and knocked unconscious when gas leaked from a main and exploded in a tavern at 3429 Morganford road, where he was a customer.

McKelvey, a mechanic, said he was burned over much of his body and suffered permanent injuries. One person died of burns, 11 others were injured and property damage totaled $14,000.

YOUTH ADMITS HE STARTED $1,000,000 WAREHOUSE FIRE

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Aug. 18 (AP)—A 19-year-old youth told authorities of starting the $1,000,000 fire at the J. E. Bohannon Co. tobacco storage warehouse here July 19.

Attorney Marshall Funk of Warren County said yesterday that Hershell Lane, who was adjudged of unsound mind two years ago in county court, related in a signed statement he entered the big warehouse to get a piece of tobacco, lit a cigarette lighter to see his way around, and accidentally set fire to a large stack of burley leaf.

Lord Dugan of Victoria Dies.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Lord Dugan of Victoria, former Governor of the Australian provinces of South Australia and Victoria, died at his home in London last night. He was 74 years old. For a short time in 1947 he was acting Governor General of Australia.

Town Celebrates 'Sucker Day,' Recalling Fleecing by City Slicker

WETUMKA, Okla., Aug. 18 (UP)—Wetumka's second annual "sucker day,' set aside to commemorate the mass fleecing of the townspeople by a fast-talking city slicker, got off to a good-natured start today.

A parade of floats depicting how F. Bam Morrison "suckered" the town early last summer was the big attraction.

Morrison took the Wetumka citizens for hundreds of dollars when he blew into town posing as an advance man for a "big, three-ring circus."

"Naturally, the circus will need mountains of supplies," he told Wetumka citizens. In three days he sold them advertising time on the circus sound truck, talked them into purchasing hay for the elephants and watched them greedily stock up on extra hot dogs and pop. At the same time he graciously accepted free lodging and hospitality.

When the circus didn't show up, merchants smiled wanly and declared last Aug. 19 "sucker day." The extra supplies were pooled and the town threw a free feed for everyone.

Business boomed and the publicity was a tremendous boost for Wetumka, a town of 2000 population.

Now the only thing that is lacking is Morrison himself, the father of "sucker day"—and there was an outside chance that he might show up.

A telegram sent from Denver and signed F. Bam Morrison was received by the newspaper publisher. It read: "Accepting invitation to attend Sucker Club convention. Will arrive some time Saturday on eighteenth."

If he shows up he'll be presented with $125 in cash, an expensive suit and immunity from prosecution.

Fruit-Growing Loss Feared Here If Japanese Beetle Isn't Checked

Nursery Association Directors Protest Against Cut in Budget of State Entomology Division.

Fear that fruit-growing in St. Louis county may become a thing of the past unless the Japanese beetle is checked was expressed yesterday at a meeting of directors of the Missouri State Nursery Association protesting against a cut in the operating budget of the State division of Entomology.

Joseph P. Houlihan, president of the association, who called the meeting at his nursery on Mosley road, said a state-wide committee from the association would appear before the State Senate when it reconvenes Sept. 10 to urge restoration of a $10,500 reduction from an appropriation of $43,000 to operate the entomology division of the Department of Agriculture for a two-year period beginning last July.

Although the beetles are on the increase, Houlihan said, endangering not only orchards but also corn crops, the slash in funds already has caused the dismissal of one of six inspectors who set beetle traps and sprayed affected areas.

Houlihan pointed out that in 1939, largely as a result of previous heavy Federal Government expenditures, only one beetle was trapped in this area although 14,000 traps were set. The traps are used only to locate affected areas which then are sprayed.

Now there are only 2500 traps in the St. Louis area, he said, and the beetle menace appears to be worse than in 1934 when the original eradication campaign started.

Robert E. Roselle of Jefferson City, state entomologist, described the plight of his department to the nurserymen. Although inspectors possess college degrees, they are paid only $225 to $250 monthly and often are hired away by commercial firms.

Houlihan said nurserymen would urge that the entomology division be "taken out of politics" and given an adequate budget.

MISSOURI PILOT LANDS FIRST IN BENDIX RACE

Speed of St. Joseph Colonel's Sabre Jet Put at Record 556.37 M.P.H.

DETROIT, Aug. 18 (AP)—Col. Keith K. Compton of St. Joseph, Mo., flying an F-86E Sabre jet fighter, finished first today in the transcontinental Bendix trophy race.

The winner in the eight-plane all-jet race will be determined on elapsed flying time. Compton is not necessarily the winner. He was second to take to the air this morning at Muroc Air Base in California.

Compton's speed for the 1920-mile dash was unofficially put at a record 556.37 miles per hour.

The Bendix record is held by Maj. Vernon A. Ford. It is 529.614 miles per hour and was set in 1949 between Rosamond Dry Lake, Calif., and Cleveland.

Compton, a 36-year-old officer from Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., finished the cross-country dash at 12:33 p.m. His elapsed time was estimated unofficially at 3 hours and 29 minutes.

Streaking in four minutes later came Lt. Col. George W. Thabault of Wincoski, Vt., a 36-year-old veteran of 82 combat missions in World War II.

Flying a B-45 Tornado jet bomber, Thabault finished at 12:37 p.m. His unofficial elapsed time was 3 hours and 40 minutes.

LEGIONNAIRES GIVE $50 FOR REWARD IN EUREKA MURDER

American Legionnaires of Eureka, Mo., have contributed $50 toward a reward for information leading to conviction of the murderer of Mrs. Lillian Anna Null, who was found beaten to death there 10 days ago.

Urban Rock, vice commander of O5Brien Post No. 177 of the Legion, said the post hoped to raise $500 to $1000 from civic, fraternal and religious organizations and, if necessary, through a house-to-house campaign.

He said the unsolved murder had frightened the community so much that many men were afraid to leave their families alone at night. As a resul, attendance at a Legion meeting Thursday night was only 12, compared to the usual 30, he said.

Mrs. Null, who lived alone, was found beaten to death in a clump of weeds back of her home. A neighbor discovered the body after learning that no one had seen her since Aug. 5. No motive for the murder has been established.

STASSEN WARNS AGAINST 'PEARL HARBOR' BY REDS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18 (UP)—The United States must be on the alert that Russia and Communist China do not "pull a Pearl Harbor" during the Japanese treaty talks in San Francisco, Harold E. Stassen warned yesterday.

The University of Pennsylvania president and former Minnesota governor, just back from a six-day trip to Europe, recalled that Japan used peace discussions as a cover for the Pearl Harbor attack of 1941.

Stassen visited western European countries as national chairman of the Crusade for Freedom which launched freedom messages by balloon into Czechoslovakia. He said he believed the odds favored a truce in the Korean war.

RAINS COOL PART OF TEXAS, REST OF STATE STILL PARCHED

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 18 (AP)—Some areas of Texas perked up from cooling rains today but generally the state was still parched and weary from weeks of 100-degree-plus temperatures. Deaths from the heat increased to 31.

Beaumont had an hour-long rain last night, dropping the temperatures from 102 to 70 degrees. There was some damage from lightning and wind. Other points in the coast area had some rain. Houston had wind squalls up to 60 miles an hour and there was light rain.

U.N. Winter Aid for Korea.

PUSAN, Korea, Aug. 18 (AP)—United Nations fall and winter relief goods for Korean children will begin arriving here soon. Items being sent by the U.N. International Children's Emergency Fund include 20,000 blankets, 6139 gallons of cod liver oil, 2400 yards of cotton fabric, outer garments, underwear, socks, caps and other articles.

PHYSICAL CHECKUPS URGED FOR CHILDREN BEGINNING SCHOOL

Parents of 15,000 St. Louis children who will enter school for the first time next month were advised today to provide complete physical examinations for their children before school starts.

Dr. J. Earl Smith, Health Commissioner, urged special attention to vision and hearing so that any handicap may be discovered and treated early. He also advised that every child be given a booster dose of diphtheria and whooping cough vaccine and that he be revaccinated against smallpox.

Since too abrupt a change of daily schedule is harmful, Dr. Smith advised parents to get their children used to the school day before school starts, seeing that they get adequate rest, food and outdoor exercise. He recommended also that every student entering high school go to his family physician for a physical examination.

SHOOTING OF BOY BY PAL WITH RIFLE RULED ACCIDENT

A verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Raymond Masterson, 14 years old, shot and killed yesterday by Raymond Harper, also 14, when they were playing with a .22-caliber rifle behind the Masterson home, 4025 Birchwood place, Lemay.

Young Harper, chief witness in the inquest at Clayton, testified that he and Masterson had been target shooting, Harper using his father's rifle. The boy said he was loading the rifle and Masterson was about 15 feet away when it went off. Harper said he did not know whether it discharged when he closed the breech or when he lowered the butt to the ground.

Funeral services for the dead boy will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Ziegenhein undertaking establishment, 6409 Gravois avenue. Burial will be in Mount Hope Cemetery. He was one of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Masterson. Harper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Harper, 4201 Birchwood.

SENATE GROUPS FOR ENDING STATE OF WAR WITH REICH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted unanimously yecterday to recommend to the Senate a resolution that would "terminate the state of war between the United States and Germany."

The measure, already passed by the House on July 27, comes nearly 10 years after Congress officially declared war on Germany Dec. 11, 1941, and more than six years after the fighting stopped in May 1945.

Chairman Connally (Dem.) of Foreign Relations group said he hopes to push the war-ending resolution through the Senate next week.

BODY OF COAST GUARD MAN IS RECOVERED FROM RIVER

The body of Boatswain's Mate Bruce L. Harwood, who was drowned Tuesday in the Mississippi river, was recovered yesterday by his Coast Guard crew, on the Illinois side of the river about 20 miles south of St. Louis.

Harwood, 25 years old, lived at 3816 Russell boulevard. He was thrown into the water as he and two other crewmen were lowered in a motor boat from the side of Coast Guard cutter Fox Glove while the crew was engaged in aid-to-navigation work. The other two men were rescued, but Harwood disappeared altough wearing a life jacket.

The 5-week-old son of a Scott Air Force Base soldier and his wife was found dead today in their Belleville home, apparently of suffocation.

When Pvt. John A. Kirk and Mrs. Kirk, 822 North Douglas avenue, went to the baby's crib at 5 o'clock, they found his head buried in a pillow.

CITY GETS NO PAY FOR FLOOD WORK BY ITS EMPLOYES

Only Services by Outside Workers Can Be Paid For Out of Relief Funds.

The city cannot be paid under existing flood relief appropriations for cleanup work done by municipal employes after the recent flood, city officials were told yesterday.

Much of the work after the flood consisted of cleaning up of levee areas, streets and sewers. L. E. Ordelheide, chief sanitation engineer for the State Health Division, who is a member of a committee examining requests for federal relief funds, told city officials the City could not be reimbursed for this work.

If outside workers had been employed, the city could have been repaid, he said.

President Frank J. McDevitt of the Board of Public Service said the legal provision would reduce materially the amount of aid the City could expect for flood relief purposes.

City department heads are attempting to estimate the amount of damage done to municipally-owned installations. McDevitt earlier told Gov. Forrest Smith this would not exceed $250,000.

Ordelheide told McDevitt there was a bill pending in Congress to liberalize flood relief provisions in such a way as to permit repayment to cities for work done with their own crews. He said it was problematical whether the bill, if passed, would provide for retroactive payments to the City.

BOY JUMPS 20 FEET TO TRAIN, RUNAWAY PLANS CUT SHORT

An 11-year-old Negro boy, intending to make his way to Texas to seek his fortune, jumped 20 feet from the Compton Avenue viaduct to the top of a slow-moving Frisco Railroad freight train yesterday. He escaped serious injury, suffering only cuts and bruises.

The boy, Edward McGrue Jr., who lives with his parents at 3045B Easton avenue, badly shaken by the experience, was escorted from the boxcar by Emmett Riggins, Negro railroad laborer, when the train stopped at Ewing avenue, three blocks from the scene of the jump. He was given first-aid treatment for a cut on his hand by railroad employes.

At the Lucas Avenue police station, Edward was reunited with his mother. He told her he had planned to run away with another boy, who said he had a relative on a farm in Texas. The other boy, whose name he said he did not know, planned to jump on the freight train with him, but apparently lost his nerve and ran away as Edward jumped, he said.

SAFE CONTAINING $4000 TAKEN FROM STORE IN OLIVETTE

A safe containing $4000, principally cash, was stolen from the office of Lloyd's Barn, hardware and paint firm, 9450 Olive Street road, last night, Phil Cohen, president of the firm, reported to the St. Louis county sheriff's office today.

Theft of the safe was discovered by Cohen when he arrived at the establishment this morning. He said he found the lower half of a divided door to the store forced open and the safe, which weighed 1000 pounds was mounted on rollers, missing.

Cohen said a casual inspection of merchandise in the store indicated nothing else was taken. Money in the safe represented yesterday's receipts. Cohen said there were only a few checks.

CHILD ILL, SWALLOWED POISON

Byron Grimm, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Grimm, 4750 Milentz avenue, was seriously ill in City Hospital today after having swallowed several capsules containing a poisonous medical compound yesterday at his home.

Mrs. Grimm told police the child took the capsules from a dresser drawer in a bedroom of the home and she found him chewing them when she entered the room.

DIES AT WHEEL OF AUTO

Henry G. Rapp, a private watchman, collapsed and died, apparently of a heart attack, when driving his automobile in the 6400 block of South Broadway late yesterday. The machine crashed into a light standard.

Rapp, 65 years old, 3866 Fairview avenue, had been under treatment for a liver ailment, his wife told police.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The name and address of the writer must accompany every letter, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words receive preference.

From a Bitter Officer

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Last October I was ordered to active duty with the Forty-third Infantry Division, a National Guard unit from New England. I was assigned to this outfit from an inactive reserve status. Apparently someone realizes the great injustice done to inactive reserve officers called back to duty, because recently there has been talk of releasing inactive reserve officers in the near future, while National Guard and active reserve officers will be subject to serve 24 months.

A few days ago the Forty-third Division was alerted for shipment to Europe in the fall, and unless something is done to replace inactive reserve officers (as is the case with enlisted inactive reserves in units going overseas) I will be subject to shipment overseas with this outfit. If that happens, I will probably wind up having to serve 24 months the same as National Guard officers.

For the past nine months my blood has boiled while I listened to the National Guard boys boasting how they joined the guard for the "easy money" they could get out of it.

What I'm getting around to is this: if, as an inactive reserve officer, I was subject to assignment with a National Guard unit, if I'm subject to going overseas with them, then I should also be "subject" to the monetary benefits realized by the National Guard.

In other words, if I'm to be treated as a National Guard officer in all other respects, then I'm entitled to back pay as a first lieutenant for the four-and-one-half years I spent in the inactive reserve.

If you feel this isn't logical or reasonable, then you must also feel that I'm getting a pretty raw deal being back in service while countless numbers of active reserve and National Guard officers are still at home riding the gravy train.

If this were all-out war and total mobilization, and every active reserve and National Guard officer was first ordered to active duty, if at that time my services were still required, then and only then would I feel that my recall to duty was justified.

A BITTER INACTIVE RESERVE OFFICER.

Objects to Headline

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

On Aug. 10 your newspaper had a headline which read: "Reds Reject Compromise on Buffer Zone. . . ." It is this kind of headline which encourages war mongering based on erroneous assumptions.

It would have been just as accurate to say "U.S. Refuses to Compromise on Buffer Zone." But that headline would have been misleading also. The best headline for the article would have been: "U.N. and Reds Both Refuse to Compromise on Buffer Zone."

Enforce Sanitation

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

So the Chamber of Commerce is proud of its accomplishment in getting the school children to participate in "Clean-up Week!" It is pathetic that grown men, supposedly leaders of our great business enterprises, would sponsor such utterly useless nonsense and brag about it. Our city is known for its dirty streets and filthy alleys.

Again and again, I have reported open garbage cans and broken down ash pits with rats' nests in so-called "nice" neighborhoods. I am told that there is no system of inspectors and that the sanitation department depends upon citizens to complain about such things. A fine state of affairs when city officials are paid to do a certain job and sit in their offices waiting for citizens to do it for them.

These "civic minded" gentlemen of the chamber would spend their time profitably by seeing that sanitation laws were enforced instead of putting on parades of children who would automatically learn cleanliness if the city around them were clean.

DISGUSTED.

Who's So Perfect?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am sick and tired of reading what everyone and his brother writes about the cheating at West Point. I wonder if these poison-pen artists are so perfect themselves. Have they never cheated on tests while in school, or worse?

ALEX SOMA.

The Peace Committee

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Congratulations to you for the recent articles about the St. Louis Peace Committee. That type of information is what is needed to shock the average St. Louisan out of his state of apathy. You have done your duty in exposing this. Please continue this type of coverage lest too many of us are caught napping by our enemies.

The action of the Board of Education in regard to one of the members of the above group is most edifying. Would that big business would follow this example. Surely management should have some love for the country which has allowed it to prosper more than anywhere else in the world.

How Inactive, Mr. Boyle?

What Senators Capehart and Bricker may say about Democratic Chairman Boyle in their minority report on the RFC is not half so important as what kind of investigation the Hoey committee undertakes.

A thorough investigation is necessary because only thus can the public be sure it has all the facts. Mr. Boyle has stated his defense and President Truman has accepted it, but unless the defense rests on something more than Mr. Boyle's undocumented statements nobody can be sure that it is valid.

Mr. Boyle admits being on the payroll of the American Lithofold Corp. in 1949, but denies helping the company get a $565,000 RFC loan. He further argues that he was not in charge of the Democratic National Committee at that time, and that he has been "entirely inactive in the practice of law" since taking this position.

These are the contentions that should be thoroughly investigated. American Lithofold was rejected for an RFC loan three times before Mr. Boyle went on its payroll. It got the loan after he did go on. If there was no connection between these two events, then what was Mr. Boyle employed for? What services did he perform? What reason did the company have to employ a Washington lawyer if not to press its RFC application?

The usual reason for anybody's hiring a Washington lawyer is to obtain representation before Government agencies. Unless he was retained for some other reason, which seems most unlikely, it was highly improper for Mr. Boyle to represent American Lithofold at all. If it is wrong, as President Truman said, "for the chairman of a national political committee to use his contacts with Government officials for his own private gain," it is equally wrong for the No. 2 man on the committee to do the same.

This prima facie impropriety when he was No. 2 man makes it essential to get the full story of Mr. Boyle's activities as No. 1 man. What is the proof that he has been "entirely inactive in the practice of law" since he became chairman? His former law partner, Max Siskind, has continued on the payroll of American Lithofold ever since Mr. Boyle went off. It is imperative therefore that the Hoey subcommittee find out just what are the relations between Mr. Siskind and Mr. Boyle.

If Mr. Boyle is as much in the clear as he says he is, he should be willing to show the committee his bank accounts as proof that he has, in fact, been "entirely inactive in the practice of law."

Suppressed Spy Story

It seems incredible that there may be no prosecution of the two American service men charged by the Defense Department with killing their commanding officer behind German lines in Italy seven years ago.

The department says that neither of the accused—former Lt. Aldo Icardi and ex-Sgt. Carl G. LoDolce—can be prosecuted under United States civil or military law and that both are still at liberty. It adds, however, that it hopes the matter can be brought to trial in the Italian courts.

But, so far, the department has exhibited little vigor in bringing the case to the attention of Italian authorities. Army agents, the department admits, obtained LoDolce's confession a year ago. Apparently nothing has been done since then. Moreover, there is no explanation of why the facts have been concealed so long. Joseph Holahan, brother of the dead officer, says "persons in the upper levels of Government" have suppressed the story. If so, why? Are others involved?

Now that the story is out—apparently only because it was to have been published soon in a magazine—defense officials have a clear-cut duty to bring Icardi and LoDolce to trial. It is inconceivable that some court does not have jurisdiction.

An Ill-Advised Proposal

State Civil Defense Director Hammond's proposal to extend the functions of his organization to floods, fires and other disasters impresses us unfavorably on every count. A proposal to create a state disaster relief agency would hardly get far on its own merits, for disaster relief is handled capably enough by the Red Cross, with emergency aid from the Federal Government whenever necessary.

Mr. Hammond seems to be capitalizing on the fact that a civil defense organization already is in existence, to which general disaster relief responsibilities could be attached as a sort of rider. He seems further to be exploiting the flood disaster, and the clamor for relief and reconstruction it has caused, by bringing up his proposal at this moment.

To require groups to be set up in all cities of more than 5000 population, as Mr. Hammond proposes, would give the state administration a potential machine that might be made formidable. To give the Governor authority to employ these people at $6 a day for the relief of any kind of disaster whatever would give the administration a potential source of patronage that could be made persuasive at the ballot box.

These political possibilities are not only undesirable in themselves, but they tend to discredit the civil defense program which is Mr. Hammond's responsibility. If citizens get the idea that the state civil defense organization is only an empire-building nucleus for politicians in power, they will not support it as they should. Nor will opposition members in the Legislature be likely to support it with appropriations of state funds.

The Embargo Questioned

Another cleavage between the United States and Britain has been brought into the open by British insistence on the maintenance of essential trade with Russia and Eastern Europe.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, president of the Board of Trade, was clearly replying to congressional demands for a total trade embargo on the Soviet world when he made a speech defending Britain's trade policies. While Britain bars export of goods useful in war production, it needs grain, timber and foodstuffs from Eastern Europe, and can get them only by exchanging something of its own.

The Korean war has accentuated demands for a tighter trade embargo, but the economic boycott against the Soviet world began well before the invasion of Korea. Our officials saw it as a weapon in the cold war, and the emphasis which the Russians gave to this economic pressure in their "friendship" message to the United States suggests that it is beginning to hurt.

If a Korean cease-fire is arranged, the policy should be reviewed. While fighting goes on, the participants inevitably bring economic as well as military pressures into play. Once the fighting ends, however, the West should ask itself just how much it gains from an extreme embargo against the Soviet world. Sir Hartley argues that embargoes will not put an end to Communism, and he points out that trade between Eastern and Western Europe has been a normal pattern for generations.

Disrupting that pattern must mean, in the end, that the United States supplies in dollars what Western Europe might otherwise earn by trade with Eastern Europe. The time will come when we should ask whether we are getting enough out of the embargo to make that price worth paying—and whether it can be relaxed in exchange for a comparable concession from the Soviet Union.

A Critique of Pure Posture

The improved atmosphere at Kaesong, once the negotiators took to sitting around a table instead of across the table from each other, comes as no surprise to us.

Those several outbursts of laughter emanating from the conference room are perfectly understandable. While it is too early, as commentators are fond of saying, to suppose that the seating arrangements are going to solve everything, it is not a bit premature to assert that the way people sit, stand and otherwise arrange themselves, individually and in relation to each other, has a lot to do with whether they are reasonable or not.

Sitting across the table from each other is all right if there is something to drink on the table, or even something to eat. If the table is bare it leads to declaiming at each other, and, if other persons are present, to scoring technical points with them over each other's heads. Those seated at either end are prone to get the impression that they are sitting at the head of the table, which leads to the witches' own brew of trouble. Anyone who makes the mistake of standing up is in danger of becoming heavily oratorical and removing the last grain of sense from the discussion. The worst way to stand up is with one's arms held high over one's head, an attitude conducive to wild ideas violently expressed.

A person lying down on either his right or left side, on the other hand, is given only to ruminative and meditative remarks. Lying on his back, he is not inclined to challenge any statement made by anybody. On his stomach, he will respond to remarks only in monosyllables, if at all.

Maybe a handbook on these fine points of true reason should be prepared for the use of negotiators. For truly, as a man postureth, so is he.

25 Years Is Too Long

A United Press survey shows that seven states increased their gasoline taxes this year and four extended temporary tax increases. And which state has the lowest tax to support its roads, and has done nothing to make it more adequate? Missouri, of course.

Missouri has had a 2-cents-a-gallon tax for 25 years, as Thad Snow notes in the Mirror of Public Opinion. The levy is over-aged. It has helped to convince some persons, and some legislators, that the state needs no higher tax for road-building. Yet the mounting evidence to the contrary lies along our tortuous, breaking pavements.

This year the Missouri House approved a 3-cent tax, though 4 cents probably would barely be adequate. The Senate sat on even this modest proposal. The bill should be first business when the Legislature meets again in two and a half weeks. Missouri has sputtered long enough with a Model-T gas tax.

From the Mayor on Down

The resignation of Jesse B. Lasater as chief of the city's Bureau of Vital Statistics should not end the investigation of the shortage in that office of cash and certificates totaling $16,500.

Mr. Lasater has stated that he knew the shortage existed, but has denied any wrongdoing. He explains his failure to report the shortage by saying he was trying to straighten things out. The circuit attorney's office has declined to issue a warrant against him because it has no evidence he committed any crime.

But the question of who was responsible is still unanswered. What happened to the $5200 in cash that should have been refunded to applicants for various permits? More important, is there a cover up?

Mr. Lasater was responsible to Dr. J. Earl Smith, the health commissioner; Dr. Smith, in turn is responsible to Director of Public Welfare John J. O'Toole. Mr. O'Toole is responsible to Mayor Darst. Comptroller Milton Carpenter's auditors and the Comptroller himself should want to know why they did not discover the shortage sooner. Surely all of these officials do not intend to close the case at this point.

Only Afraid of State Police?

The Post-Dispatch has learned that nine crap games are operating in or around Alton. Gambling is opening up again in Madison county. But Sheriff Callahan says he hasn't "been told" about it, and all the gamblers seem to fear is a surprise raid by Gov. Adlai Stevenson's state police.

Illinois has only 500 state policemen. They have enough to do without being saddled with the unwanted duty of local law officers. This week about half the state police have been working in connection with the big state fair at Springfield. Gov. Stevenson, however, has shown determination to use the state police against gambling if necessary, and the state fair does not last forever.

So the gamblers' fears of state action are warranted enough. But don't Sheriff Callahan, State's Attorney Lewis and the police of Alton and other Madison county cities notice that the gamblers are not afraid of them? It is as obvious as the spots on the dice.

No Point at the Point

West Point, it seems, might as well give up football after all. Its only remaining justification has gone. The rug, one might say, has been pulled out from under it.

Generals, it has been said, are made on those football fields—the country's future Eisenhowers, Bradleys, and Ridgways. And in proof, did not the great Iron Duke, the Duke of Wellington, say that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton?

Alack! It appears that he never said anything of the kind, or at least there is no evidence of it. So says the seventh Duke—and he was so keen to get the evidence that he recently offered a prize of 50 pounds to anyone who could produce the proof. Nobody has been able to win it.

Besides, Wellington's career at Eton turns out to have been "short and inglorious." He had "no particular affection for the place" and it is "unwarranted even to assume he was in favor of organized games," according to the seventh Duke.

So there we are. The Academy might as well close down the stadium and let what's left of its football squad disperse to other more hospitable schools.

How Our Roads Got That Way

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Plight of Missouri's revenue-starved roads can be traced in part to dependence on bond issue rather than adequate gasoline tax; bonds cost money for interest, and also lead people to think taxes can be kept low; bus, truck and oil interests are fed at trough.

Thad Snow in a Statement to the Missouri Good Roads Association

Thirty years ago the Missouri Legislature enacted the Centennial Road Law, and in the main it still holds over, although some have tried hard to change it, or destroy it on several occasions. It must have been a pretty good law.

Our second piece of good luck occurred in 1945. That was the year when we adopted our new Constitution. I will not give anyone credit for writing our good fundamental road law into that instrument. But it is almost too good to be true! If any other state has as good a constitutional road law as Missouri I do not know it.

Thad Snow

Briefly, our constitutional road law makes it impossible for the State Legislature to enact really bad road legislation. So our road law is okay, and it is doubtful if mere legislative action can damage it much.

But what about the constitutional amendments that special interests have put on the ballot and that we have had to vote on from time to time? Well, so far we have voted them down. The unlamented Curry Amendment, for example, would have practically repealed the road section of our State Constitution, and left our road law in shreds and tatters. I guess if we ever permit the special interests to put over one of their slick amendment packages, we'll deserve it, and have to take it. However it looks like the amendment racket is somewhat abated, if not ended entirely. So much for our good luck.

The Big Boner of 1928

Now for the big boner that we pulled away back in 1928, and that plagues us now more than ever before. It is quite possible that few will agree with me that it was a great boner. But I must call it as I see it.

In 1928 we voted our second road bond issue, of $75,000,000. It was a major blunder for several good reasons. If I remember rightly the Highway Department figured on spending the money over a 10-year period. I did some figuring myself, and if I remember rightly, we could have had just about as much money for road construction over that 10-year period if we had voted two cents more gas tax, instead of voting the bonds. And of course we would not have had to pay interest on the bonds, or pay back the principal out of future road revenue. It was bad business anyway you looked at it. Our first $60,000,000 bond issue was an entirely different proposition.

But, one might object, could we have voted two cents more gas tax back in 1928? We can't do it now! Sure we could have done it then. Our road enthusiasm was boundless, and we would have done it without batting an eye. Then why didn't we do the sensible thing?

Well, among other reasons, it was because the bond buyers of St. Louis and elsewhere were taking an interest in our highway affairs, very much like the truck, bus and oil people take an interest today. A group of them guyed me after the bonds were voted, and bragged that they would put over a $125,000,000 bond issue next time. They haven't done it yet, but they still talk about it, occasionally.

But, you say, all this is water over the dam. So why bring it up now? It is not water over the dam, by any manner of means. First, because we chucked our golden opportunity to raise the gas tax; and since we really built a lot of roads with our bond money, we fixed it in the minds of Missouri people that we had done it all with a 2-cent gas tax. We had known all along that no other state had so low a gas tax, but we became convinced that we were smarter—or something. We still hold to that idea, although it is obvious that our low tax has caught up with us.

Low Tax Is a Subsidy

Second, and much more important, by voting the bonds instead of raising the gas tax in 1928, we extended a lavish subsidy to the oil, bus and transport truck interests. Surely there is no need to waste words and figures to explain why and how our low gas tax subsidizes these businesses.

They have enjoyed our bounty for years. It has become for them a vested interest, which, very naturally, they fight like the devil to retain. They have, in a manner, sat for so long on our low gas tax, that they now claim "squatter's rights" to their profitable position. I don't think it is a just claim, but undoubtedly they do. Every other subsidized business has behaved the same way. It is proper for us to try to unseat them, but we oughtn't to be surprised when we find it difficult to do.

We Have Spoiled Them

I have sometimes called the oil, bus and truck lobbyists "so-and-sos," and other bad names. That is unfair. I admit it. I apologize. If they behave like greedy spoiled children, it is because the people of Missouri have spoiled them. We weaned them too late. As a matter of fact we haven't weaned them yet. We are trying to do it now, and that is why they squawk and bawl like they do. Calves bawl the same way when cows finally wean them, out of biological necessity.

We have tried and tried for about 15 years to wean our lusty oil, bus and truck calves, but failed every time because they bawled too loud. This time we may get the job done, because the "biological" necessity is upon us. I mean we are "drying up."

Good Film for the Senate

From The Washington Post

We hope that a considerable number of United States Senators will find time to see a film called "Go for Broke!" The title—a bit of Hawaiian slang which means "Shoot the Works!"—was the slogan of the 442d Regimental Combat Team, an infantry unit made up entirely of volunteers, and of volunteers who entered it from the barbed-wire confines of relocation centers to which they had been sent after Pearl Harbor because they were of Japanese ancestry.

This film tells their story—the story of a loyalty to American ideals that withstood even the stupid discrimination and injustice to which these Nisei were subjected and of a heroism in combat that made the 442d the most decorated unit of its size in the war.

The House of Representatives passed legislation in the last two Congresses to give parents of these Nisei veterans the right of naturalization and also legislation granting Statehood to Hawaii, the territory from which many of the 442d's volunteers came. But the Senate failed to take the necessary concurring action on either measure.

"Go for Broke!" might lead the Senate to see these bills now pending in a new light. It provides an object lesson in the validity of Franklin D. Roosevelt's observation that "Americanism is a matter of mind and heart. Americanism is not, and never was, a matter of race or ancestry."

Between Book Ends

Big Doings in Panama

THE GOLDEN ROAD, by Peter Bourne. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, $3.)

The Golden Road lay across the Isthmus of Panama, traveled in both directions by the gold mad. Forward over it charged the gold-seekers, lusting to get to California; backward over it dallied the gold-finders, drinking, brawling and wenching. Clinging to this artery were the usual leeches, gamblers, prostitutes, panderers and thieves.

Peter Bourne

Henry Stewart, however, was on the Golden Road for another reason. A stuffy Bostonian, he had been given the 1849 equivalent of a mickey and awakened to find himself robbed of his employer's cash. There's no doubt in Henry's mind as to who eloped with the money, and to clear his name he sets off in hot pursuit of the culprit.

The pursuit and the trail remain hot until Henry gets to Panama, where the trail cools off and the pursuer's ardor is diverted into other, but no cooler, channels. The staid son of Boston establishes a liaison with a lady explorer in what is probably the silliest seduction scene ever put on paper. Our Henry is the seducee.

But he is just beginning to live. He branches out with a young tart named Lucy, becomes a gunfighter of some prowess and the familiar of gamblers and killers, meanwhile continuing the search for the villain who undid him. And he still has time to yearn for the cool and chaste and far-off girl he left behind.

Needless to say, he gets his man and his woman, too, but not until Mr. Bourne has taken him up all the bypaths of the Golden Road and exposed him to black magic, voodoo, murder in wholesale lots, malaria, yellow fever, etc., etc.

There is much to hold a reader's interest in the Mr. Bourne's novel when the absurd plot and "characters" are not obscuring the background.

Exotic Hong Kong

MY ENEMY, MY WIFE, by Allen Haden. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, 214 pgs., $3.)

This is a kind of deviationist whodunit—a did-he-do-it-and-if-so why. It has the exotic mores of Hong Kong to add to its readability, and a familiar theme—failure of a marriage—because all who are married have some failures in that relationship.

Ben Binyon married Maria during wartime, and returned to Hong Kong, where he had always lived, when he was demobilized. It was then that he began to know his wife, and gradually discovered that theirs could not be a mature marriage, since, for her, Ben could never be anything but her child. The story deals with their struggle to break out of a non-creative relationship. It involves other people; Ben's father, a doctor barred from practice, a madame whose measure of bliss was the owning of a corner house on Wenzel Square, Ben's Chinese boss, Inspector Olds of the Hong Kong police, and Verena, a married child whose insouciance meant youth and love to Ben.

Mr. Haden's novel has flavor, pace, and more insight than the usual mystery tale.

POLAND ACCEPTS U.S. BID TO ATTEND JAP PEACE SIGNING

Czechoslovakia Also Expected to Join Russia in Sending Delegation to Conference.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (UP)—Poland has joined the Soviet Union in accepting an American invitation to attend the Japanese peace conference at San Francisco beginning Sept. 4, it was disclosed today.

State Department officials said the Polish Government communicated its acceptance to the American embassy in Warsaw Thursday. The State Department was informed of the action by telegram yesterday.

Czechoslovakia is the only Communist nation invited to the peace conference which has not yet accepted. Poland's decision, however, apparently assured eventual acceptance by the Czech Government.

52 Nations Invited.

The Poles did not list their delegates, but further information on this was promised "later," officials said. The Russians are sending 32 persons headed by Andrei Gromyko, to the San Francisco conference.

American officials still hope the peace conference can be concluded Sept. 8. The presence of the Iron Curtain nations, however, promises additional long speeches and parliamentary maneuvering that might send the peace parley into extra days.

About 40 nations now are sure to attend and a few more acceptances are expected. Fifty-two countries, including the United States and Japan, are on the conference list.

New Warning to Russia.

The Polish action was disclosed as the Voice of America charged that the strong Soviet delegation picked to attend the conference indicates that Moscow still hopes to make Japan "an easy prey for Soviet aggression."

But the Voice quickly repeated what President Truman and other top officials already have emphasized—that the Soviet delegates "will be wasting their time and talents."

The United States informed Russia firmly in a note delivered in Moscow Thursday that the San Francisco treaty conference starting Sept. 4 will be to sign the proposed treaty and not to write a new one.

Jap Parliament Approves Six-Man Parley Delegation.

TOKYO, Aug. 18 (UP)—The diet approved tonight a six-man Japanese delegation to the peace conference in San Francisco next month.

It will be headed by Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and include representatives of the Liberal and People's Democratic parties and the Green Breeze Society.

Only the Socialist party refused to designate a representative. It may send observers, however.

Prime Minister Yoshida told the Diet that "a state of war" will continue between Japan and powers not signing the treaty. He told a questioner, however, that he does not believe these powers will threaten Japan's independence.

$5000 GRANT HERE FOR RHEUMATISM, ARTHRITIS CARE

Grants totaling $5000 have been made to the medical schools of Washington University and St. Louis University and to four St. Louis hospitals for clinical treatment of indigent persons suffering from arthritis and rheumatism and for research in the diseases, it was announced today by the Eastern Missouri Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

The chapter gave $1500 each to the two medical schools and $500 each to Deaconess, Jewish and St. Luke's hospitals and Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

Additional grants probably will be made later this year, officers of the chapter said.

35 POLIO CASES IN THIS AREA SO FAR, 65 BELOW YEAR AGO

About 35 cases of infantile paralysis have been reported this year to the St. Louis and St. Louis County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, most of them occurring since the middle of July, it was announced today by Joseph F. Kelly Jr., chapter chairman.

In the comparable period last year, there were 100 cases in city and county, he said. Four deaths have been reported this year but only two of these were 1951 cases. Patients include a husband and wife, a student nurse, a doctor's wife and two children in one Overland family.

Patients have been hospitalized at St. Anthony's, Barnes, Children's, St. John's and City hospitals. Necessary financial assistance and medical guidance are provided by the Chapter from funds raised in the annual March of Dimes campaign.

NEARLY MILLION LEFT BY MRS. W. R. CADY

Inventory Puts Holdings at $87,267, But Lists Stocks Worth $850,000.

A value of almost $1,000,000 for the estate of Mrs. William R. Cady was indicated by an inventory filed in probate court yesterday.

The listed amount was only $87,267, but stock with a present market value of more than $850,000 was given a nominal worth of only $1 each.

Besides stocks, some unlisted on exchanges, the following assets were included in the inventory; cash, $41,149; bonds, $11,003; notes, $5864; automobile, $1900; miscellaneous and stocks of doubtful value, $371.

Mrs. Cady, wife of a retired vice president of Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and daughter of the late Phillip de C. Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, died June 14. She left her estate in trust for her husband and two sons, William R. Cady Jr. and Phillip Ball Cady.

HUNDREDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF HEARST AT SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18 (AP)—The body of William Randolph Hearst was placed yesterday afternoon in a family tomb near the city where he was born 88 years ago.

Hundreds attended his solemn, impressive funeral at Grace Episcopal cathedral here atop Nob Hill.

The service was conducted by the Rt. Rev. Karl Morgan Block, a former St. Louisan. He read slowly from the Episcopal office for the burial of the dead. The name of the deceased was not mentioned, nor was there any allusion to the journalistic empire Hearst created or to his widow and five sons.

The widow, Millicent Willson Hearst, arrived on the arm of her son George, followed by the other four sons. The family took seats in the front row, on the aisle. Behind them sat old friends and veteran employes.

SENATE CRIME GROUP ABSOLVES BARIUM STEEL

Committee Finds Racketeer Owns Less Than 2 Pct. of Stock in Corporation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Senate Crime Committee said last night it has found nothing that would reflect in any way on the character and integrity of J. A. Sisto of Orange, N.J., or of the Barium Steel Corp.

The committee yesterday questioned Sisto, chairman of the board of the New York City corporation, in a closed hearing.

Sisto appeared before the committee as a voluntary witness. The committee wanted to know whether Abner (Longie) Zwillman might have any influence on the corporation as a stockholder. The committee has called Zwillman a racketeer who was influential in New Jersey politics.

Zwillman, who testified before the committee last March 26 but denied he is a gambler, has been eluding a committee subpena to appear once again.

The committee said it had found that Zwillman has no connection with Barium Steel Corp. except that both he and his wife own some stock in it.

The committee stated that Zwillman and his wife hold a total of 42,714 shares in the corporation, or less than 2 per cent of the total outstanding shares, 2,250,000

The committee asserted Zwillman's purchase of stock in the corporation was made in the open market. It added:

"Barium Steel Corp. appears to be a company with a fine reputation in its industry, and the committee's investigation has found nothing that would reflect in any way upon the regularity of its operations, or the character and integrity of Mr. Sisto and the management of Barium Steel Corp."

The Senate committee ended 15 months of public hearings yesterday with testimony that the aid of Zwillman was solicited in behalf of Harold G. Hoffman's unsuccessful 1946 primary race in New Jersey for the Republican governorship nomination, but that Zwillman did not contribute to the campaign.

Impellitteri Absolves Two Named in Hearings.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri says he has no intention of firing two New York City officials mentioned in the Senate Crime Committee hearings as friends of gambler Frank Costello.

The officials are Harry Brickman, deputy city treasurer, and Hugo Rogers, special counsel to the traffic department, each drawing $10,000 a year.

In a statement last night, Impellitteri said both Brickman and Rogers supported him in his race for mayor and therefore were anti-Costello.

FRED R. BAUER DIES, DIRECTOR OF FALSTAFF BREWING CORP.

Fred R. Bauer, a director of the Falstaff Brewing Corp. and a member of the executive committee, died in his sleep at his home in Lakeville, Conn., Friday. Before he retired a number of years ago, Mr. Bauer was in the investment banking business in New York City.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ruth Bauer, a son, Robert, and a daughter, Mrs. Gregory P. Fitzpatrick.

Uniform Qualifications for Jurors In Missouri Urged by Bar Group

Adoption of uniform standard of qualifications and exemptions for jury service throughout the state is recommended by a Missouri Bar Association subcommittee in the current issue of the Bar journal.

"The statutory qualifications of jurors vary greatly for various parts of the state, particularly between cities and counties of different size," a subcommittee for Improving the Administration of Justice points out.

"Our statutory exemptions from jury service have very little basis in logic or reason but apparently have depended on the lobbying power of various groups."

The subcommittee recommended that the standards established should provide "for liberal qualifications and few exemptions, leaving to the trial judge a large discretion in determining under what circumstances jurors should be compelled or permitted to serve."

Modernization of the state's exemption and homestead laws is proposed in a report made by the exemption laws revision committee and published in the journal.

"The language of the statutes is now quaint and picturesque but, as the statute declares, was written for the age of the spinning wheel and home spun cloth," the committee said.

Another committee report recommended modernizing Missouri's probate laws, terming them "among the most archaic in the nation."

BETHLEHEM LUTHERAN TO SPONSOR CONCERT

Organist and Chorus Will Perform Bach Motet at 10 A.M. Sunday.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch

The Lutheran chorus of Sheboygan, Wis., and Dr. Edward Rechlin, noted organist of New York, will present a concert at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Florissant avenue and Salisbury street, at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The concert here will conclude a three-week, 5500-mile tour which extended to the Pacific coast.

In addition to his solo selections and an improvisation on a well known hymn, Dr. Rechlin will accompany the chorus in the performance of the Bach motet, "O Praise the Lord, All Ye Nations."

Selections by the chorus will include Gerhardt's "Now Rest Beneath Night's Shadow" and "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded," several hymns and the Christmas Motet by Heinrich Schuetz, "For Unto Us a Child Is Born," arranged and edited especially for the chorus.

The chorus of men and women includes no professional singers, but singers of extensive training and experience as well as young voices of high school age. Martin J. Bangert, a member of the faculty of St. Paul Lutheran School, Sheboygan, is the conductor.

The worship service will be conducted by the Rev. Edward A. Krause, pastor of Bethlehem Church.

CHURCHES IN KOREA MUST BE REBUILT, MISSIONARY SAYS

The wholesale destruction of churches in Korea in the war is described by a missionary in Pusan whose report was released this week by the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church, New York. The Rev. Charles A. Sauer represents the Methodist Church in relief work among civilians and refugees.

"In the Yichun district, southeast of Seoul," he reports, "11 churches have been burned to the ground. Five others are half destroyed. Every church in the district has been stripped of every bit of equipment, chairs, organs, records. There is not a whole piece of glass in a window, nor are there window frames, doors or floors. All available wood was taken for fuel.

"Reconstruction for this district alone will require at least a dozen $1000 churches, and two or three $2000 to $5000 each.

"Pastors have been told not to sit around, but to go and preach the gospel. They do. But, alas, in these crowded areas where the average person has about one-by-six feet as his allotment, there is no room in which to continue meetings. Tents cost money."

The Rev. Mr. Sauer said that more than 1000 refugees a day are being removed in trucks by relief workers from battle areas and are being left south of the Han River with three days' rations.

CITY BOY LEARNS BIRDS CAN SING IF HE LISTENS

The Rev. Marion Rowlen of the Maplewood Christian Church is an authority on birds and wildlife in general, according to Chi Rho campers, who returned home last night after a week at the Lake of the Ozarks. The minister led daily early morning bird watches in the timber on Camp 2C, near Kaiser, Mo.

"I think it was the first time I ever really listened to birds," one St. Louis boy said. "They sure sound pretty in the trees. The Rev. Mr. Rowlen certainly taught us a lot about birds."

Besides bird watches, early morning activities included swimming, prayers, clean-up chores, and assemblies for games and singing. Afternoons were devoted to swimming, boating, hikes, craft projects and fishing—there were more fishermen than fish.

After evening vespers on the lake shore, the campers met in the assembly hall for group games and singing. Then they formed a triangle for brief devotions.

Camp Chi Rho was held for 81 boys and girls, 12 to 14 years of age, from Disciples of Christ churches in the St. Louis area. The Rev. W. Elbert Starn, executive secretary of the Greater St. Louis Council of Christian Churches, served as director for the fifth year.

The conference theme will be a question: "Does membership in the church limit me or set me free?" This general topic will be broken down into these topics, among others: "Am I limited in the friends that I have or might have because of my church membership? What influence does church membership have on freedom or lack of freedom in discussions with the 'gang'? Can you have a good time and be a good churchgoing person at the same time?"

The young persons will be divided into groups that will examine the services of baptism and confirmation, trying to see how these services help answer some of the conference questions.

Cardinals Still Finding Reds Nice Playmates; Musial's 28th Home Run Puts Lanier Over, 2-1

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18—It's a good thing for the Cardinals that the Reds are in the National League—the same Reds whom Warren Giles, president of Cincinnati's team, last spring freely predicted would beat out the Cardinals in the 1951 pennant race.

The Redbirds still are hot contenders for third money in the flag chase while the Reds are having a struggle to keep from dropping into the seventh slot chiefly because St. Louis has beaten the Reds regularly except for a series here in May when the Cardinals were riddled by sickness.

Max Lanier's 2-1 victory over the Reds last night before 8682 paying witnesses was the tenth game the Redbirds have won from the Reds this season in 16 contests between the two clubs.

It also was the fourth straight the Cards have taken from the Reds while winning five and losing three of their last eight games.

If the schedule hadn't brought the Reds along for the Cardinals to feast on last week-end and this week-end Marty Marion's team might have dropped down to fifth or sixth place.

Four Games Ahead of Reds.

But the Cards now are four games ahead of the Reds in the National League standing and readily assure one and all they are not going to be beaten out by the Reds, no matter what Giles said last spring or is saying these days.

Giles didn't see Lanier triumph over Herman Wehmeier last night via an unearned run in the second inning and Stan Musial's 28th homer of the season in the ninth, nor did Marion.

Giles was in Chicago looking at the All-Star football game. Marion was in St. Louis hoping to recover sufficiently from his latest illness to rejoin the Redbirds before they leave Cincinnati Sunday evening or at least get back at their helm in Brooklyn Tuesday night.

Coach Terry Moore did what directing was necessary to bring the Cardinals through on top last night. Terry will remain in charge until Marion gets back on the job. As things stand he is batting 1.000 as a manager.

However, it wasn't any great managerial acumen which won this one for the Cards. Musial merely took Wehmeier to the count of three and two in leading off in the ninth then blasted the next ball pitched over the screen into the centerfield end of the rightfield bleachers, a real legit, as his twenty-eighth round-tripper of the season and his only hit of the night.

Lanier thus bagged his seventh victory of the season and his fourth from the Reds in six starts against them. They have beaten him once.

Last Saturday night Max blanked the Reds on two hits, a pair of singles by Ted Kluszewski, and pitched to only 27 batters. He had rougher going last night, facing 30 hitters of whom eight clicked off singles and three walked.

First Pass Leads to Run.

His first walk led to Cincinnati's run. Bob Usher drew it to start the Redleg second. Dixie Howell forced Usher for the second out but Wehmeier and Bobby Adams drilled singles to center to bring Howell home.

Howell was one of six Reds to reach second base against Max but was the only one to get as far as third in a game marked by flashy fielding on both sides.

Two were out in the first half of the second when Nippy Jones singled to center for the first of seven hits yielded by Wehmeier who sustained his seventh defeat of the season, the last three of which have been well pitched.

Bill Johnson then hit an ordinary grounder which Connie Ryan fumbled to prolong the inning enough to let Del Rice blast a double to left which scored Jones with an unearned run.

Wehmeier fanned three and walked two while Lanier fanned two and walked three. Wally Westlake was Wehmeier's only whiff victim, fanning thrice. Max walked Hank Edwards twice and Usher once and fanned each one time.

Harry Brecheen, one of the few Cardinal pitchers whose arm is O.K., will oppose Ewell Blackwell in the second game of the series this afternoon.

Marion Must Rest at Least Another Week

Manager Marty Marion, who became ill in Pittsburgh and returned to his home here yesterday, will be away from the Cardinals at least another week.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, club physician, made that announcement today after putting Marty through an X-ray examination and general checkup at Jewish Hospital.

Marion's trouble was diagnosed as virus pneumonitis, a condition of the lungs that will require rest and treatment. He also is suffering from pleurisy. He will undergo further examinations before he is permitted to rejoin the team.

Meanwhile the manager will be confined to his home.

Terry Moore is running the Cardinals during Marion's absence.

Another of Dr. Middleman's patients, Pitcher George Munger, had a growth removed from his back yesterday. It was described as a lipoma, not a cyst, which was pressing on a nerve. Dr. Middleman said it would be five or six days before the stitches could be removed.

"I think he will be a better pitcher when he is able to rejoin the Cards," Dr. Middleman volunteered.

Hippenstiel, Herren in Tight Duel

By John Archibald

JEFFERSON MEMORIAL COURTS, Aug. 18—First-seeded Mary Arnold Prentiss, defending champion and a three-time winner, romped to a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Sara Tuber of Flora, Ill., in a women's singles semi-final match in the National Public Parks tennis tournament today.

Diane Hunsaker, unranked entrant from Salt Lake City, defeated St. Louis's Merceina Parker, 8-6, 8-6, to qualify for the other spot in the final tomorrow.

In a slambang men's semifinal duel, third-seeded Wade Herren of Birmingham staged a terrific rally against defending champion Clyde Hippenstiel of San Bernardino, Calif. Hippenstiel took the first two sets, 6-3, 6-1, and Herren the next two, 6-2, 8-6.

George Stewart, only St. Louis hope in the men's singles, took the court in a second semifinal against Linn Rockwood of Provo, Utah.

Parker and Hart Rally.

St. Louis was close to elimination in the men's doubles, and the victory of Parker and Hart over second-seeded Wade Herren and Jack Chapman of Birmingham was one of the day's outstanding crowd pleasers.

It took all the know-how and steadiness acquired in their years of playing for the Parker-Hart combination to overcome the fast, harder-hitting collegiate duo.

After Parker and Hart surprised the crowd by coming back from a 3-6 defeat in the opening set to win the next two by scores of 6-3 and 6-2, it still appeared that the greater endurance of the Alabamans would be too much of a handicap. Chapman and Herren took the fourth set, 6-4, and spurted ahead in the deciding set, 5-2.

With their backs against the wall, the St. Louisans fought back. Even after winning the next two games, Parker and Hart were at one time within a single point of losing the set. They finally took the game, however, tying it at 5-5. Chapman and Herren then went ahead, 6-5, but the wily Parker and Hart duo snapped back to win three successive games for an 8-6 triumph.

Mrs. Parker Scores Upset.

Merceina Parker, Ward's wife, remained in the singles by upsetting Lucille Davidson, Lee's Summit, Mo., seeded second 2-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Mrs. Parker and Mary Hrdlicka overcame fellow St. Louisans Marie Pickrell and Mary Vassely, 7-5, 6-1, to earn a doubles berth.

The other St. Louis seed besides Stewart, the mixed doubles team of Bob Light and Miss Hrdlicka, advanced by whipping Pittsburghers Carol Mayer and Joe Short, 6-2, 6-2.

Zack Runs Out of Righthanded Pinch-Batters and Brownies Wind Up Just One Run Short

By Bob Broeg

Bill Veeck, the blushing sport-shirted genius, provided fireworks again last night at Sportsman's Park, but if Ol' Zack Taylor had been able to come up with just one more pinch-hitter, the Browns probably would have provided the kind of pyrotechnics preferred—a victory.

After three straight pinch hitters had delivered, however, there came a time in the ninth inning when Ol' Zack was fresh out of righthanded hitters to send up against Ted Gray, Detroit southpaw. And with the potential tying and winning runs ready to go, Jim Delsing hit a game-ending infield grounder.

So the visiting Tigers, spotting the Browns and young Jim McDonald a three-run lead in the first inning, held on to gain a 5-4 victory. Of the eight hits allowed by Gray, who now has scored two of his 1951 victories over the St. Louis Americans, six were furnished by righthanded hitters, including safeties by pinch batters Ned Garver, Jack Maguire and Sherm Lollar.

Too Little, Too Late.

Maguire and Lollar coming up with two down in the ninth, touched off a rally that was kept alive by Bobby Young's run-scoring base hit, but the uprising then fizzled like a faulty giant firecracker.

Between the first inning and the ninth the Browns collected only two hits while Detroit pecked away at McDonald, scoring two runs in the fifth on Pat Mullin's eighth homer, tying the game in the fifth and then winning it in the sixth when the Tigers needed only one hit to score twice.

McDonald asked for trouble with one out when he walked the opposing pitcher, and he quickly got it because Gerry Priddy doubled Gray home, Freddie Marsh at third base kicked a grounder off the bat of George Kell, who had three of Detroit's eight safeties, and Priddy then scored the deciding run as Old Folks Charley Keller hit into a force play.

"Well, I can't feel any worse than Big Henry," Veeck said after it was over, referring to his good friend, Hank Greenberg, Cleveland general manager whose Indians just had lost a third straight game within 24 hours." "I think," the Sport Shirt added, I'll send him a wire—'Try the gas-pipe. It's easier than drowning'."

Veeck, though frequently a funny man, has bowed his neck despite protests by Arthur Ehlers, general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, that to permit fans to run a major league ball club during a regulation game would be a travesty.

Plenty of G. S. Managers.

The Dutchman's stubbornness was reflected in a two-page publicity release issued by his active promotions' department. The dispatch said "several hundred applications" already had been received for the Grandstand Managers' Night planned next Friday aaginst the Athletics. "Entries," the item read, "have been received from 15 states as distant as Massachusetts and New York."

Entries must be received by the Grandstand Manager, Sportsman's Park, before Thursday morning, and to receive membership cards in the Grandstand Managers Club, fans must include a self-addressed stamped envelope along with the batting order proposed for the game with Philadelphia.

Veeck's staff didn't say so, but it might help if frustrated managers included information as to whether they bat lefthanded or righthanded. As Ol' Zack Taylor could tell you, one pinch-hitter too few can make a big difference.

In the second game of the series this afternoon Fred (3-7) Sanford, making his first start for the Browns here since he was regained in an even swap for Dick Starr, will be opposed by Marlin (4-2) Stuart, Detroit righthander.

Ailing Hal Newhouser Likely to Be Placed On the Disabled List

HAL NEWHOUSER of the Detroit Tigers probably will go on the disabled list.

Manager Red Rolfe indicated as much today after the once great lefthander found his arm still paining him.

Rolfe said he would confer with General Manager Charley Gehringer on the possibility of retiring Hal as "disabled" so that the Tigers could bring up a replacement.

"It doesn't look like Hal can be any use to us the rest of the season," Red said.

Newhouser, troubled with his arm since mid-June, hasn't pitched since July 15 when he failed to last two innings against Washington.

Real 'Honey' For Backers Of Hezahoney

Hezahoney was a real honey—that is for the fans who wagered on him in the fifth race at Fairmount last night. Viola Cameron's three-year-old paid off at $53.80 for $2 in defeating nine others over the six furlong route. Piloted by Billy Owen, Hezahoney defeated The Troubador by a length and a half, with Gyp's Gold taking the show position.

A crowd of 7367 which wagered $227,500 on the night's program saw Leon Grandsart add to his lead in the jockey race by bringing home Dandy G ($5.40) and Owen C ($9.40). In addition to Hezahoney, Owen won with Shooters Hill at $10.20 for $2.

The "field" almost came through with victory in the daily double. Miss Manora, a field horse, won the opener, but Vita, another field horse was beaten by Shooters Hill in the second. The second also saw a deadheat for the show money between Blue Greenock and Quick Caprice.

Kansas City Man Hunted as Key Basketball Fixer

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Police throughout the nation today hunted for a Kansas City (Mo.) hoodlum indicted as the master briber of Bradley University basketball players, including one All-America star.

Authorities described their quarry as Joseph Benintende, 41, "a known gunman and very dangerous."

Benintende was named yesterday along with three Bradley players and seven other assertedly lesser fixers in six indictments charging bribery and conspiracy.

The Bradley players — All-America Gene (Squeaky) Melchiorre, William K. Mann and George M. Chianakas—were released in $500 bail each after they pleaded innocent to the charges.

Five other Bradley players figured in the probe, but were not cited in the indictments.

Low bail for the three indicted Bradley players was set after a representative of the district attorney said they co-operated in the inquiry.

Kansas City Fix Indicated.

Meanwhile, in Kansas City, police said they were investigating reports Benintende was involved in an alleged fix of a basketball game there March 21, 1950, between Bradley and Kansas University.

The Kansas City reports, according to police, were that Bradley players received $4000 to win by less than four points. They won by two, 59-57, and the fixer allegedly raked in $80,000. The game was played in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's western play-offs.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan in New York said Benintende was the leader of the gambling ring and the other seven indicted persons were his associates.

Hogan said Benintende served time for a 1936 robbery of a Farmingdale (N.Y.) bank and was questioned in the April 1950 murders of Kansas City Democratic leader Charles Binaggio and his top muscleman, Charles Gargotta. They were shot by unknown gunmen still at large.

Five of Benintende's alleged associates pleaded innocent to the bribery and conspiracy charges.

These are Nicholas Englisis, 26; his brother, Anthony Englisis, 25; Marvin Mansberg, 25; Saul Feinberg, 26; and Eli Kaye, 29, indicted in previous alleged basketball fixes, who was continued in the $50,000 bail.

Two Fear for Lives.

Bail for the others was fixed at amounts ranging from $2500 to $10,000. The Englisis brothers posted bail and went free although a district attorney's aid said their lives were in danger.

Jack (Zip) West, 39, another indicted alleged gambler, has been sought since the Bradley phase of the case scandal broke several weeks ago.

The seventh defendant, Jack Rubinstein, 33, was out of town and will be arraigned later. He is free in $15,000 bail in an earlier fix case. All the alleged fixers, except Benintende, are from New York City.

Games listed in the indictments were Bradley-Bowling Green of Ohio on March 19, 1949; Bradley-Manhattan College Jan. 12, 1950; and Bradley-City College in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship game March 28, 1950. All were played in Madison Square Garden.

Melchiorre allegedly turned down a $10,000 bribe to lose the City College game. City won.

Since February, basketball's biggest scandal has enmeshed 31 players from six big time college teams—Bradley, Toledo, City College, Manhattan, Long Island and New York University.

Seven Records Set in Ozark Swim Events

Seven new Ozark A.A.U. junior swimming records, four in the girls' division and three in the boys, were established in the competition at the Chain of Rocks pool last night.

Bob Beckerly, unattached, bettered his old mark of :31.9 for the 40-yard back stroke, when he negotiated the distance in :29.8.

Maureen Murphy in the 80-yard back stroke; Sally Kent in the 40-yard free style; Jane Frolichstein, 80-yard free style and the Y.W.H.A. relay team of Skippy Burch, Nancy Hasse, Helen Hughes and Maureen Murphy are the new girls' record holders.

Other records, both in the boys 15-16 class, were as follows:

John Mantia, Downtown Y, lowered the 80-yard backstroke mark to 55.5 seconds. Old mark set by Joe McKenna in 1948 was 59.1.

Missouri A. C. 160-yard free style team set a mark at 1:28.7 as compared with the old Shaw Park team mark of 1:39.2, set in 1940. The M.A.C. record team is Joe Lee, Joe Blaes, Dick Muckler and Francis Eyerman.

Shaw Park won the team honors with 133 points, followed by the Y.M.H.A. with 92. Other point getters were: M.A.C., 44; Cottage Camp, 30; Forest Park Highlands, 12; unattached swimmers, 7; Downtown Y.M.C.A., 6; Westborough Country Club, 4; Marshall Place, 4; Alton Y.M.C.A., 4; Norside Y.M.C.A., 2.

Browns Rout All-Stars

Graham's Arm Is in Top Form

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (UP)—Cleveland's football Browns, who haven't missed a championship in any year since they were organized, held another title today.

And even though their 33 to 0 triumph over the College All Stars, in the 18th renewal of the game in Soldier Field, wasn't a new record for the distance, they convinced the largest money crowd in the history of the event, 92,180, that the victory might have been.

The Browns resembled a steam roller gaining momentum last night. They tallied two points in the first period on an All Star bobble, a fumble by S.M.U.'s Kyle Rote which Notre Dame's Bob Williams recovered in the end zone to give the Browns a safety and two points.

And after that, apparently feeling their way under the sharp eyes of Coach Paul Brown, who sent in play after play to his star quarterback Otto Graham, Cleveland began to roll.

Use Varied Attack.

It was a varied attack, two passes by Graham, who completed 18 out of 31 attempts for 269 yards and two touchdowns, or runs by Dub Jones, who made 105 yards in 12 carries, or Marion Motley, whose smashing drives through the line split the collegiate forwards and secondary easily.

Cleveland pranced more than half the length of the field twice for a score in the second period and Jones clipped off one touchdown on a two-yard plunge. Though the second drive bogged down short of a six-pointer, automatic Lou Groza booted a 20-yard field goal to give the Browns a growing advantage.

In the final half the club opened up. Graham worked his two star ends, Dante Lavelli, who caught seven throws for 148 yards and one touchdown, and Mac Speedie, who hauled in nine tosses for 107 yards, alternately.

Between his tosses he worked his runners, and the combination left the All Stars, both linemen and backs, gasping. Jones drove over for another two-yard touchdown and Graham hit sub fullback Emerson Cole for still another tally.

Receipts Total $428,000.

These accounted for the final edge, short of the record 38 to 0 tally established by the Philadelphia Eagles two years ago. But the crowd, which with television and radio receipts added, paid a record of $428,000 to see the match, was convinced of the Browns' mastery. The attendance did not set a record as such, however, falling short of the 1947 mark of 105,840 and of the crowd on seven other nights as well.

The All Stars, hampered by injuries in training, were unable to cross the 50-yard line until less that six minutes remained in the game. Then they were promptly thrown back and never reached Browns territory again.

Williams and Nebraska's Fran Nagle completed only five of 15 passes for 43 yards. The entire All Star team, though boasting running stars such as Whizzer White, Arizona State, and Everett Grandelius, Michigan State, gained only 83 yards rushing compared to 132 for the Browns.

Five in Tie for Sioux City Lead

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 18 (UP)—Par was battered and tattered today as professional and amateurs battled for the half-way lead in the $15,000 Sioux City open.

The 30 low scorers at the end of the first round all bettered par by two strokes and five tied for the lead with five-under par 67's.

The five players bunched in the lead at the end of the first round were: Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, the P.G.A.'s leading money winner: Tommy Bolt, Durham, N.C.; Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, Tex.; Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., and Fred Haas Jr., New Orleans. Bolt and Middlecoff blistered the course on the first nine yesterday, carding four-under-par 31's. Bolt collected four birdies on the first nine, and added another on the second.

Robert Leahy of Denison, Ia., was the only amateur to appear among the 30 leaders. He shot a four-under par 68, matching the scores of eight professionals.

STOCKS MOVE UPWARD IN WEEK'S TRADING

Market Experts Attribute Rise to Investment Buying —Gains Over Point

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (UP)—The stock market resumed its upward course this week. Gains throughout the main list ranged to more than a point. The rise carried industrial prices to their best levels since June 5, 1930. The rails are still well under their highs for the year. Utilities moved within a narrow range. The market this week registered a gain in each trading session with the exception of Tuesday. But the decline on that day was extremely small.

Market experts attributed the rise this week to investment buying. A few groups were bolstered by individual news items. Corporate news was on the dull side this week.

Low-priced Shares Taken.

Of the 1375 issues traded this week, 821 issues finished higher, 369 closed lower and 185 finished unchanged. New highs for the year were scored by 96 stocks and 23 made new lows. Transactions this week, however, were under last week. Sales totaled 7,215,008 shares, compared with 7,580,110 last week.

A few so-called cheap stocks led the market in volume. Benguet Consolidated Mining on a turnover of 175,000 shares, rose ¼ to 1¾. National Power & Light was the second most active on the week on sales of 168,200 shares. It slipped ⅝ to 1¾.

Television shares stole the spotlight on Friday when American Telephone & Telegraph disclosed that its new transcontinental radio-relay system will be in full operation by Sept. 4. Most major video shares scored substantial gains.

A.T. & T. Strong All Week.

American Telephone stock was strong throughout the week with investment demand helping to push the stock upward. The issue closed with a gain of 4⅜ points to 162¼. It reached a new high for the year of 162⅝. Elsewhere, steel and special issues scored wide gains. Bethlehem Steel rose 3 points to 53¼ and U.S. Steel at 42¾ was up 1¾ points.

Aluminum Company of America was a feature in the "blue chips." It jumped 4¼ points to 82½.

Mahoning Coal Railroad, a wide moving issue, showed one of the widest changes. It spurted 15 points to 525. Other rails closed the week out generally mixed. Utilities failed to attract any attention. Chrysler and General Motors rose substantially in their group.

The Department of Commerce disclosed this week that United States corporations publicly reported cash dividend payments in June totaling $1,116,300,000, a 25 per cent increase over the amount paid out in June, 1950. The year 1950 was a record year for dividend payments.

KANSAS CITY WHEAT SHOWS PRICE LOSSES AT CLOSING

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 18 (AP)—Wheat was listless in featureless trading at the Board of Trade in Kansas City today. Saturday trading generally has been slow on the days the Chicago market has been closed.

The grain moved slightly above yesterday's close at mid-session and traders in the pit attributed the light rally to moderate flour buying.

Prices soon dropped, however, and the close was ½@¾c lower.

Grain sorghums showed weakness with the advent of the new crop the reason. Losses weer about a cent in both September and December contracts. Fractional changes in wheat futures at Minneapolis attested to the slowness in which the spring wheat movement was asserting itself.

Receipts at Minneapolis were 320 cars and at Duluth, 245. At both markets half of the receipts were believed to be new crop wheat, most of it coming from South Dakota. The boxcar shortage was still delaying the heavier rush from Montana and North Dakota though the likelihood of heavy impoundings under the loan was strong.

Cash demand here was reported good, but was curbed somewhat by crowded tracks and shortage of storage space. Receipts here were surprisingly liberal today at 498 cars.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 18 (AP)—No aggressive buying or selling developed at the Minneapolis grain exchange today. Wheat displayed firming tendencies at times, but the strength fizzled out. Oats and rye futures were weak throughout the short session.

At the close wheat futures prices were down ¼@⅝c a bushel. Oats were off 1⅞@2⅜c.

Work Is Her 'Anesthetic'

Countess Bernadotte Busy in Post at U.N.

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (INS).

HARD work is the "anesthetic" that has made life bearable for Estelle Manville Bernadotte, widow of Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator in Palestine, since he was assassinated in Jerusalem almost three years ago.

COUNTESS BERNADOTTE

"Work may not be a cure-all, but it is certainly an anesthesia," the soft-spoken Countess said a few days ago as she sat in an office high up in the new United Nations building.

She had just come from a meeting of the Special U. N. commission considering the fate of prisoners of war of World War II, centering on the accusation that the U. S. S. R. still holds some 1,500,000 Italian, Austrian, German and Japanese combatants.

This three-member commission, of which she is a member, has been meeting in New York this summer, slowly and painstakingly searching for some solution of the gigantic and festering problem.

"We have reached several decisions that give us hope," was all she would say of the delicate work of the commission.

★ ★ ★

IN 1928, WHEN with considerable pomp Estelle Manville Married Count Bernadotte, a nephew of the late King of Sweden, she seemed the typical American heiress in a typical international marriage.

But the marriage, contrary to so many of its kind, was extremely happy. And the bride, contrary to so many of her kind, threw herself whole-heartedly into the Red Cross, social and welfare work in which her husband was a leader throughout Scandinavia before World War II and throughout the world, once war started.

In the meantime, the American Countess became head of the Swedish Girl Scouts and influential in a dozen philanthropic causes affecting women and children on the Continent.

★ ★ ★

AFTER THE DEATH of her husband, she refused to take his place as head of the Swedish Red Cross, fearful she was being named only because she was his widow. And it took all of Trygve Lie's persuasiveness to get her to accept the present U. N. post.

"My husband and I shared the same ideals when he lived," she said, "and I would be letting his memory down if I didn't try to help with this problem now."

The Countess, tall and very slim, is a pretty woman with beautiful, large brown eyes and dark hair, worn in a chignon that frames her serene face. She seems an extremely tranquil woman save for slim, restless hands that are never still a moment.

"After my mother died, I kept her New York apartment because I want my two boys to feel they have a home in America, too," she said. The Countess has always maintained her American citizenship.

★ ★ ★

THOSE TWO SONS, Folke, 20 years old, and Bertil, 15, are in Stockholm now, cramming for school exams. Folke, who hopes to be a doctor, will take exams in September to qualify for the medical school at Upsala University. Bertil is boning up on Latin. The countess lost two other sons in infancy.

She and her boys share a common delight in —of all things!—American jazz.

"I've always loved good jazz. And now I'm enjoying a second childhood with my sons. If I feel terribly low, I can always put on a Benny Goodman record and get a lift for the day. And I suppose I shouldn't confess it," she smiled, "but I like just plain 'corn,' too."

★ ★ ★

WHEN NOT WRESTLING with the problems of Girl Scouts, crippled children, church activities, and juvenile delinquency, the Countess works at refinishing furniture, a hobby she enjoys tremendously.

She hopes to leave within a matter of days for Stockholm to be with her sons briefly before starting on a back-breaking round of welfare meetings throughout Scandinavia.

"In my work with young women, I would like to help girls make better homes," she said. "Home is a woman's best career. Two nice, old-fashioned commodities, human kindness and love, are being neglected today in so many ways. And the world needs them so badly."

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

DR. PULLMAN, the society dentist, tried desperately to soothe his richest but most difficult patient, a Mrs. Gruber. "Don't shake your arms like a semaphore and make those faces at me," he begged. "I haven't even started drilling yet." "I know you haven't," said Mrs. Gruber, "but you're standing on my corns."

FASHION'S 'ASTONISHED LOOK'

Wearing a new French gown and an astonished look, model Evelyn Averill (above) flounders in the swimming pool of the liner Mauretania—an unscheduled highlight of a fashion show on the ship in New York Thursday night. Mishap occurred when Miss Averill took one step too many while parading along the pool's edge. At left, helping hands are extended by (from left) models Lee Fields, Jocelyn Schokette and Dottie Reid. —International News Photos.

Scientists Foresee Synthetic Food, At Least One Round Trip to Moon

Other Predictions Include Both Making and Preventing Rain—Cure for Common Cold Also Is Forecast.

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright. 1951.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18—The American Chemical Society, which celebrates its seventy-fifth anniversary in the fall, has asked a number of leading scientists to peer into the future and here is a sampling of their predictions:

Food will be made synthetically from carbon dioxide, water and ammonia, with the help of the sun—Dr. A. V. Grosse, Research Institute of Temple University.

At least one man will have circumnavigated the moon and returned safe—Dr. C. C. Furnas, Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory.

Not only making rain but preventing it will be an established practice—Dr. Gustavus J. Esselen, United States Testing Co., Inc.

Mental illnesses, allergies, polio, the common cold will be curable or preventable — Prof. John C. Bailar, University of Illinois.

The sea will yield drinking water and increased amounts of magnesium, salt and bromine. Atomic energy will be sources of packaged energy for heating and refrigeration — Prof. R. Norris Shreve, Purdue University.

Automobiles will be of weight-saving, plastic-metal combinations. Housing will make great use of synthetics. Most roofing and riding will be coated fabrics. Homes will be connected by two-way radio—Prof. H. Mark, Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM a girl of 13. I am staying at the home of my aunt, who is sick. While here I am expected to prepare the meals, though before I got here I had never cooked a dinner in my life. I am interested in it and like to cook, but my uncle is such a fault-finder he spoils everything. If anything goes wrong in the house it is my fault. I am supposed to keep the place spotless, food delicious, exactly the right amount of everything on the table. All this with no experience. How can I do it? If I don't my uncle gets angry and makes fun of me before anyone who happens to be present. I have put up with this now for two weeks but am afraid I cannot do so much longer. I have done everything to please my uncle, even to running errands the two children usually run but nothing will make him give me a word of encouragement, just that laughing at me all the time. What can I do? He is my mother's brother.

COMPLETELY DISGUSTED.

Your uncle expects too much of a girl your age. It takes a long time for a person to learn to be an expert cook, to have everything on the table at the right moment and at the same time, hot things hot, cold things cold. He should be so grateful for your help that he should spend his time praising and encouraging you. How would he get along in his own job if the boss nagged and belittled him and ridiculed him all the time? Of course it is possible your uncle does not realize that he seems to be doing these things to you. He may be only teasing you in his own way, but enough teasing is enough, too, as far as that's concerned. If your aunt is not too ill, perhaps she can straighten this matter out for you. Or your mother can speak to her brother and make him realize how unhappy he is making you. If he does not change his attitude I see no reason why you should remain.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM ALMOST 16 years old. My parents are continually nagging me. They never give me a chance to explain anything or to voice an opinion. I realize I am not an adult but even so I think a teen-age girl should be given a little attention now and then and permitted to say what she thinks. Must I always remain silent? Can't I even be given a chance to explain when I have done something my parents object to?

BLUE EYES.

Perhaps when you speak up and express yourself you are a bit on the sassy side and that never goes over very big! If you feel there is a misunderstanding I agree that you should be permitted to tell your side of the matter in a nice way. Parents should not nag of course. On the other hand they would not need to nag if young people did as they were supposed to do. It all works both ways you see.

Racial Intermarriage

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

HOW would you like to have your only son marry a Japanese girl?

That's the situation Mr. W. is facing, and it leaves him bewildered.

"Our son has been in Okinawa for the past few years in the civil administration," Mr. W. explains. "He has now written us that he has married a fine Japanese girl. He says she is a Christian, highly intelligent and speaks good English. Her father is an official in the higher schools.

"Frankly, Dr. Popenoe, my wife and I don't know what to say! If he brings her back here—and we assume he will—do you think our friends will accept her? And what about the children—our grandchildren—belonging to neither one race nor the other? What will happen to them? Of course we'll stand by him and the wife of his choice; but we just feel as if the ground had been cut out from under our feet!"

★ ★ ★

I THINK many other parents would feel just as you do, Mr. W. But let's look at the situation as coolly as possible.

American occupation authorities haven't encouraged such marriages, but they may have been married secretly. He might not bring her to this country for some years, but he will doubtless do so eventually.

Then it will be a test of the loyalty and—shall I say—Christianity of your relatives and friends, Mr. W. I believe they will treat her respectfully. They may end up by taking a great liking to her.

★ ★ ★

IF SHE SHOULD FIND it too hard to get along on this continent they can do what many others have done—move to Hawaii where there is a wide tolerance of racial intermarriages.

That doesn't solve the problem of children, of course. In some intermarriages, husband and wife have agreed not to have children, because they felt the world would make it hard for such children. Most of us would think that an appalling solution of the problem. Again, Hawaii is a possibility.

Maybe civilized people will change their views about intermarriages between different races. Maybe they won't—at least, not in time to help your son and his wife. Meanwhile, you are quite right in standing by your own son without question.

Beauty After Forty

By EDYTH THORNTON McLEOD

CONTOUR collapsing? Face looking out of shape? That's because you have been neglecting yourself, allowing the muscles to sag! That unappealing "square" contour, which is a sure indication of age and neglect, need not come to you if you will practice Contour Control.

Loose, baggy muscles will bulge and hang unless continually toned and tightened. And especially must you watch this if you are losing weight. The firm line of Youth breaks down into soft, fatty tissue unless you are vigilant. Your contour home treatments don't last long but the results will be long-lasting.

Both heat and cold will tone and stimulate but cold seems to have more of a toning effect on the muscles and the skin. First, to begin your daily home treatment, cleanse the skin thoroughly. Always start on the neck and cleanse with upward movements. Stimulate circulation by patting with chilled astringent lotion.

★ ★ ★

NEXT, PAT a light layer of rich cream on the skin. Have ready a small bowl filled with ice cubes and pack cotton squares in the ice so that you will have them ready for use. Fold a 4 by 6 cotton pad into a spoon-shaped paddle. Now dip the cold paddle into your astringent.

Start molding firmly from the center of the chin up to the ear. Now the other side. Press up and along that sagging contour. Now use your squares of chilled cotton over the eyelids and under the eyes, across the mouth and into the lines at the corners of the mouth. With your astringent, press the pads under and over the eyes, over the forehead. Finish with generous patting with your iced astringent all over neck and face again.

Absorb any moisture with tissues and apply a cream or lotion powder-foundation. This contour treatment will stimulate circulation and tone up tired, saggy muscles. Also, the posture of your head is important, never forget that.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

EAST-WEST bewailed the fact that they were outbid in today's deal, but their real error was in the defensive play.

South, dealer.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♦	Double	1♠ (!)	2♥
2♠	Pass	3♦	Pass
Pass	Pass

Obviously, North was fancy in bidding one spade over West's takeout double. North's hope was to buy the contract as cheaply as possible at diamonds, and he wanted to keep the enemy from competing in at least one of the higher-ranking suits — he could not very comfortably bluff in both spades and hearts. It is only fair to observe that East and West could not well risk greater competition than they offered, even though, as the cards lay, they probably would have made four hearts. West had extended himself when he doubled the diamond and so had nothing left for future dueling; and East had gone as far as he could afford when he overcalled the spade with two hearts.

West wisely shied away from a heart lead—he opened a low club. East won and returned the suit. Declarer then drew two rounds of trumps and led a low spade toward the jack in dummy. (West simply had to have the A-Q of spades and the heart ace for his double.) At this point West slipped! He played low, feeling that there was no hurry about taking his spade tricks. He was wrong, however, because now declarer led another spade from dummy and after West had taken his queen and ace, he was endplayed. A heart return would establish South's king, and a club return would give South a heart discard while he ruffed in dummy.

West should have seen the endplay coming quite clearly, and thus should have put up the spade queen on the first lead of the suit and exited with the ace and low spade. Then all he had to do was to wait for two heart tricks!

Fix It Yourself

By Hubbard Cobb

Bracing Roofs.

ONE of the things that keeps a lot of people from reroofing is the unhappy fact that the roof just isn't strong enough to have someone working on it. When you have a situation like this a little reinforcing is in order.

You can stiffen a roof considerably by installing collar beams in the attic between the rafters. These beams are nailed to the sides of opposing rafters. Two by six lumber is good and the beams should be installed as near the middle of the rafter as possible. Nail the collar beams to the rafters with 16 penny nails.

The only disadvantage to this method is that it reduces the headroom in the attic considerably. Moving the collar beams closer to the roof peak can be done but the closer the beams are to the peak the less effective they are.

Another way to put a little fight into a roof is to install knee braces between the rafters and the attic floor or floor joists. Two by four stock is used for this job and the ends of the braces should be pulled in slightly towards the center of the attic. You don't have to have a brace for each rafter. A piece of two by four can be run right along the rafters and braces run down from this at every other rafter.

1. DO PSYCHOLOGISTS KNOW WHY PERSONS FALL IN LOVE AT SIGHT?
2. DO BRILLIANT CHILDREN WASTE MORE TIME IN SCHOOL THAN OTHER CHILDREN?

3. DOES YOUR BIRTHPLACE AFFECT YOUR CHANCES OF BECOMING FAMOUS?
YES ☐
NO ☐ YOUR OPINION

Answer to Question 1.

ACCORDING to the Freudian theory, a boy grows up with his mother as his ideal of womanhood; a girl usually holds her father as her ideal. When boy meets girl resembling his mother he falls in love with her before he realizes it; the same when a girl meets a man resembling her father.

Answer to Question 2.

Yes. The late psychologist Leta Hollingsworth said, "In the ordinary elementary school, children with I.Q.s of 140 waste half their time; those of 170 waste practically all their time." They can't help it because schools have to be geared to the average and even below-average child. The high I.Q. child learns quickly and has nothing to do but get into mischief. We actually train them in habits of idleness and day dreaming. Often they lose interest and don't study at all.

Answer to Question 3.

Yes. Prof. Stephen Visher, Indiana University, showed that one section of Indiana, with a population of 200,000, has produced only one notable scientist while another section, with 200,000 population has produced 20. Nearly all of Indiana's most famous authors came from one fifth of the state containing less than one-fourth of the population. More leaders came from towns than farms. County seats yielded over three times the average for the state.

Weeds Bring Back Memories

By RAMON COFFMAN

TWO readers—Roberta Sandaver and John Edward Taylor—have sent me requests for information about weeds.

Weeds bring back to me certain memories of my boyhood. Many a time, I was set to weeding the family garden. If I had been asked to define a weed, I probably would have replied:

"A weed is something that grows faster than the vegetables."

At the age of about 12, I got a job on a farm "weeding sugar beets." Those rows seemed to last forever, and the hot sun beat down on my head. At the end of one day, I resigned.

So many kinds of weeds exist that a simple list of them would take up a great deal of space. Here are the names of a few kinds:

Chickweeds, thistles, wild parsnips, toadflax, dandelions, wild mustard, figworts, sandburs, cockleburs and tumbleweeds.

Some of those weeds are a trouble to those who take care of lawns and flower gardens. Others cause mischief in vegetable gardens, woodlands and fields.

★ ★ ★

TWO KINDS of damage are likely to come to crops from weeds. They rob the soil of moisture and minerals, and they may form a covering which keeps food plants from getting enough sunshine.

In special cases, weeds can be of service if they are kept under some control. They may prevent rain from evaporating too fast, and certain kinds of weeds add to the nitrogen in the soil. It is chiefly in the Torrid Zone, however, that weeds provide such help.

Interesting tests of the harm which weeds can do have been carried out on the island of Hawaii. Sugar cane was planted in four fields of the same district. Two fields were kept free of weeds, but nothing was done to halt the growth of weeds in the other two. A loss in production of about 30 per cent took place where weeds grew freely.

For general interest section of your scrapbook.

Scarfs Popular

The vogue of the cardigan neckline has brought scarfs into greater prominence. Many of the new autumn dresses are collarless and have the necklines adorned with scarfs. Suits, too, are beginning to follow the same trend. Most of the scarfs are worn with simple draping, the ends tucked into the top of the dress and a pin used to hold the accessory trimly in place. Smaller scarfs are preferred for this arrangement because there is less bulk to be handled.

Adding Lime Flavor to a Chiffon Pie

By Edith M. Barber

THE very appearance of the lime with its cool, green color is refreshing. And have you noticed how large this fruit has seemed to become in the last few years? It's not so long ago that a typical lime was small. When you planned to use this fruit as a flavoring, you had to order a goodly number and use a special squeezer.

A quarter of a Persian lime is plenty to serve with a honeydew melon whose flavor it seems to bring out so well. It is also just about the right amount to serve with iced tea and with fish, although you may prefer to use slices that can be dipped in minced parsley for the latter. This type of garnish is also attractive with fried chicken.

One of our favorite uses of limes is as a flavoring for pies. Either a custard meringue pie, or a chiffon pie may be chosen. When I was a guest at the Dodges' up near Boston, the daughter of the house, a college sophomore, prepared the latter for a company dessert. A few drops of green coloring gave the filling almost exactly the shade of the fresh lime peel. A long chilling in the refrigerator made it particularly appropriate for a dessert on a hot summer night.

Quindara's Lime Chiffon Pie.

Three egg yolks, six tablespoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon grated lime rind, one-fourth cup lime juice, one-half cup boiling water, four tablespoons lemon-flavored gelatin, three egg whites, one-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar, six tablespoons sugar, one 9-inch baked pastry shell.

Blend together egg yolks, six tablespoons sugar, salt, lime rind, and juice in saucepan and stir over low heat until mixture begins to boil. Remove from heat. Add boiling water to gelatin and stir until dissolved. Beat in hot egg mixture. Cool. When mixture is partially set, beat until smooth. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until frothy. Add six tablespoons sugar gradually and continue beating until stiff. Fold egg white mixture into gelatin mixture. Turn into baked pastry shell. Chill until set. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Lime Meringue Pie.

Four tablespoons cornstarch, three-fourths cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one and one-fourth cups water, 3 egg yolks, one tablespoon butter or margarine, five tablespoons lime juice, two teaspoons grated lime rind, one 8-inch baked pastry shell, three egg whites, six tablespoons sugar.

Blend cornstarch, three-fourths cup sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in water. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is very thick and transparent. Place over hot water, cover and cook 10 minutes. Beat egg yolks, and add hot mixture, stirring rapidly. Return to double boiler and cook over hot water three minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in butter or margarine, lime juice and rind. Turn into baked pastry shell. Top with meringue made by beating egg whites until they form peaks. Add six tablespoons sugar gradually beating constantly until mixture is stiff. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Yield: one 8-inch pie.

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK.

MUCH of what I spoke of in my last column as confusing our thinking applies to the whole Far Eastern problem. We forget entirely the stages through which we have gone.

I remember well how strongly my husband believed that it was essential for the future of Asia that China become a strong, unified nation. He believed that Sun Yat-sen had really hoped to make essential reforms to better the life of the Chinese people, and he thought that Generalissimo Chiang, having been one of Sun Yat-sen's close followers, wanted to carry forward these reforms. He hoped that given help from us, Chiang, would be able to unify China and free it from the Japanese. Everything my husband did in the early days of the presidency looked to a strong China, which he felt would be the stabilizing factor in Asiatic situation.

Mrs. Roosevelt

MANY of the people who are being attacked today because they advised drawing all the Chinese factions together in one government, were hoping that this could be done by Chiang Kai-shek with the help of the Sun Yat-sen's son, who belonged to a middle party. This would not have made the Communists the dominant group but would have forced some of the more reactionary elements to join in putting through satisfactory reforms. For many of the older war lords who had never been out of China saw very little reason for change.

The men who wrote reports to the State Department, trying to evaluate the situation in those days, did not know the U.S.S.R. as we have come to know her during the last five years. Nor were they weighing their words for fear of being attacked as Communists. They were just honest public servants studying a complicated situation. They gave their opinions and made suggestions for what they were worth, knowing well that it would be the responsibility of someone in the United States to read all their reports, that it was up to Washington to see the over-all picture and make the final decisions.

★ ★ ★

WHEN Gen. Marshall went to China he was convinced that the salvation of China still lay in unity. Therefore he hoped to persuade Chiang to take all factions into the Government and begin making reforms. But Chiang listened to his older advisers and refused to act along these lines. Gen. Marshall finally left China seeing no chance of accomplishing anything by a longer stay.

The final defeat of Chiang and his retreat to Formosa proved conclusively that the people of China were tired of promises and wanted action. Our policy of a unified China under a Nationalist leader failed, not because of our action, but because of the inability of the Generalissimo to unite his people.

To give a tired summer dress an autumn look, just change accessories. Instead of your wide summer straw hat and matching straw bag, substitute a little black velvet cap, belt and gloves. It perks up summer clothes no end.

Curtains for a Cottage

By Elizabeth Hillyer

RIGHT about now when the sun's at its hottest come many questions about curtaining the windows on porches and in summer cottages.

Many of them, like Mrs. W. W.'s, concern the kind of windows that come in unending rows and are set high and unattractively in the wall. There is practically no privacy, and often too much sun in the room or on the porch where they are, and they have a bare, unfinished look that even the nicest furniture does not help.

Yes, you can whip up some very simple curtains in a hurry to solve the problem. Depend on three tiers of small plain rods instead of complicated curtain making and you can have curtains like this. With them, you've caught a long lost look of comfort while you have solved the practical problems of privacy and light regulation as well.

The lowest ruffle can stay as it is with a gain in privacy and no loss of light while upper curtains are drawn back. Light can come from the center when the center ruffles are drawn back, or from the center and the top of the window. There's plenty of chance to let light in or shut it out wherever you like.

MRS. W. L. A.—"We have made the mistake of putting ordinary wallpaper in our breakfast nook rather than the special stainproof kind. Is there any way to protect it from the children's fingerprints?"

Two kinds of coating are made to protect wallpaper so it can be wiped off with a damp cloth. One kind has a lacquer base and the other a wax base. Lacquer requires more skill in application because it dries quickly, and the wax coating must be renewed occasionally where it is most often washed. Both are coloreless, but to make sure chemicals in it do not change the color in your paper too much, or cause deep shades to run, test the coating you choose on a left-over piece of the paper before you apply it.

MRS. P. H. D.—"I'm trying to refinish an old dark table in a new light shade and am not having much luck with it. I can't seem to get the dark color out of the carving. What do you suggest?"

Color that remains in carving after paint and varnish is applied may be removed with an orange stick wrapped in fine steel wool. However, the effect is often more pleasing if some of the dark color in carving is left as it is and only the high positions are highlighted. Manufacturers often shade carvings in this way.

The Girl Who TOOK a CHANCE

by Rob Eden

CHAPTER SEVEN

MARNE got out of the taxi and paid the driver. She looked about her and saw that she was in a disreputable neighborhood, with grimy wholesale markets and storehouses, few street lights and a general run-down air.

The brilliant sign flashing "Hugo's" was the only beacon in what looked to her like an uncharted sea.

She shuddered a little and went inside. There she experienced a real surprise.

While not a large cafe, Hugo's was beautifully decorated in good taste, with expensive linen and gleaming silver on the tables. Marne couldn't imagine why such an establishment existed in that battered neighborhood.

The place was about half full of diners. A captain at the door greeted her and she gave her name.

"Yes, indeed," he said. "We were expecting you. Please come with me."

He led her across one side of the dining room. At a table by the wall Marne saw Wickford Trent dining with a strange girl. He saw her at the same instant, and she thought he seemed agitated as he recognized her.

"Good evening, Marne," he said casually.

She acknowledged his greeting and continued across the room.

Trent's dinner companion, a tall, dark girl with flashing black eyes, stared at her as she passed.

The captain escorted Marne through a doorway and into a private office. Marne was surprised to see a table set for two near a big window looking out on the main dining room.

The office was brightly lighted, and Marne stayed back against the wall, out of sight of the diners beyond the glass.

The captain smiled.

"Make yourself comfortable," he assured her. "That is one-way glass. We can see patrons in the dining room. They can't see us. It's very private. That's Mr. Hugo's wish."

Marne laughed nervously. She was relieved, too. That was what Capt. Vanessy meant when he said he had arranged it so she would not be embarrassed.

She sat down in an easy chair and removed her gloves.

"Capt. Vanessy will be here soon," the man said. "Please excuse me."

* * *

He left the office, and Marne could see him making his way between the tables, going back to his station at the door.

Marne's head was in a whirl. She had never dreamed, just two days ago, what a merry-go-round she would be on in just 48 hours. Meeting police captains in private offices, and having dinner there! How Jean Garland would love such a situation.

The captain didn't keep her waiting. He came in soon after she had settled in the easy chair.

"You are prompt," Vanessy said smiling.

"It's a wonder I got here at all," Marne replied. "Why did you pick this awful spot?"

"You mean Hugo's place?"

"I mean this terrible neighborhood."

"It's out of the way, of course, but fine for my purpose. You aren't apt to see anyone here you know."

* * *

Marne got up from the chair and pointed to Trent and his companion.

"You think so? See that couple at the side table? That's my boss, Wickford Trent, and a perfectly strange dinner companion not his fiancee. And I walked right past them and he spoke to me!"

Vanessy looked carefully at Trent's table.

"What rotten luck. I guess you are right, and I am wrong. We should have met in the public square or some private place like that. Hope I haven't gotten you in dutch with your boss."

"I hope so, too. It's very embarrassing. I don't have any idea who that woman is. And he'll feel that he has to explain at the office Monday."

While they were watching, Trent paid his check, put a wrap about his companion's shoulders and they left.

Vanessy pushed a button and a waiter entered.

"We'll have the menu," he said.

They ordered dinner and sat at the table in the center of the office.

"How do you rate this service?" Marne asked. "Are you a partner or something?"

"I did Hugo a favor once. He's an old friend. I'll introduce you later."

Marne gave him a suspicious look.

"Oh, it was perfectly legitimate," the captain hastened to assure her. "The favor I mean."

He stared at her for a moment. "You don't trust me, do you?" he asked.

"Why should I? You don't trust me."

He laughed.

"That's a good answer," he told her.

Marne smiled.

"I don't think we'll get very far until we do trust each other," she said quietly.

The captain offered his hand and she took it.

"We're partners," he said. "Now let's get down to work."

He talked earnestly all through the meal. He said that careful investigation had convinced him everything she told him in his office had been true. He was now positive someone had chosen her to handle the Corvel reward money who knew her, and trusted her, too. Who that person was, he said, was his problem.

"It certainly points to that young forger," he declared. "He must be the one."

"I had intended to tell you when you first came in," Marne said seriously. "He drove me downtown tonight."

Synopsis

The Story This Far: MARNE BALLETER is hurt by the sudden engagement of her boss, WICKFORD TRENT, who had previously dated Marne, to a wealthy heiress, DAISY HAYDEN. A mysterious letter arrives demanding that she act as go-between for some jewel robbers and the police. The reward for the return of the jewels is $25,000. Meanwhile, Daisy tells Marne she is not jealous of her — Marne informs her she needn't be. Marne goes to the police to see Capt. Vanessy. Marne finds TOM VANESSY young and handsome — he fires questions at her, asking if she wants to help him by running interference. She agrees to help. Vanessy has Marne followed until he can investigate her story. The next day Vanessy calls to tell Marne to meet him at Hugo's for dinner — he wants to talk business privately. On her way to Hugo's Marne runs into FRANK ROBERTS, a next-door neighbor and a parolee from prison where he was sent on a forgery charge. She lets him take her downtown and vaguely promises him a date sometime because of his insistence and loneliness.

U.S. STERILIZES SOIL FROM BATTLEFIELD OF THERMOPYLAE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Maria Geroulis, a displaced person, insisted that the soil from her native Greece had been "sterilized by the blood" of the ancient heroes of the Battle of Thermopylae.

The Department of Agriculture insisted the soil must be sterilized before entering the United States.

So the earth was put in a modern pressure cooker yesterday. After 30 minutes, officials said any organic matter it may have contained now was harmless.

The girl brought the soil from Greece as an offering for the tomb of America's unknown soldier. She dug the earth from the graves of Greeks who died fighting invading Persians 480 years before Christ.

MISSOURI STATE FAIR OPENS NINE-DAY STAND AT SEDALIA

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 18 (AP)—Missouri's forty-ninth state fair opened today with thousands of exhibits on display at the dressed-up fair grounds. Nearly 500,000 persons are expected to visit the fair during its nine-day stand.

Three days of automobile races, five days of Grand Circuit harness races, horse shows and stage shows are among the attractions.

Three or four high school bands will be on the grounds each day. Thirty-nine have been invited. Thousands of head of livestock are being groomed for the judging which starts Monday.

PICKED BY DISABLED VETERANS

William E. Leach Sr., 3005 Allen avenue, was elected a member of the executive committee of the Disabled American Veterans yesterday at its annual convention in Milwaukee. He will represent the ninth district, which includes Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa. He is national service officer in St. Louis for the D.A.V.

Ewing W. Mays of Little Rock, Ark., was elected national commander of the D.A.V.

YOUNGSTERS GET PRIZES FOR 'READING MILES' OVER WORLD

Prizes were awarded today to University City youngsters who have read themselves all over the world this summer.

Only in their imagination did they leave home or the University City Public Library, but contestants in a summer reading contest figuratively piled up a lot of mileage.

Vicki Gerstein, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gerstein, 743 Heman avenue, was awarded first prize. A gold book locket and engraved chain went to Vicki for her 5050 "miles."

It was all part of an idea of Miss Mary Gaus, librarian. A large globe was placed in the children's section, cardboard sailboats were attached and each child was advanced 50 miles for each book read; another 50 miles for a book report or drawing. Vicki turned in 101 pieces of work.

Second was 10-year-old Janice Darrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Darrow, 7006 Plymouth avenue, with 3650 miles, and third was Gail Block, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Block, 7301 Delmar boulevard. They received bracelets.

YOUTH RELEASED; STORE CAN'T SHOW WHAT WAS STOLEN

Paul Langley, 17 years old, was released from police custody yesterday, although he admitted participating in the theft of food and cigarettes from a Kroger Co. grocery at 115 North Euclid avenue. The store was unable to show exactly what was missing.

Langley was arrested Wednesday after a 16-year-old boy, a former employe at the store, admitted to police that he stole food valued at $2000 on 11 occasions in the last three months. Langley told police he was with the 16-year-old boy on four occasions when food was stolen.

Assistant Circuit Attorney William R. O'Toole yesterday refused to issue a grand larceny warrant against Langley. O'Toole said the state would be unable to prove independently of Langley's statement that a crime had been committed. Langley lives in the 1400 block of Newhouse avenue. The 16-year-old boy has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

MILITARY GOVERNMENT STUDY RESUMED HERE

Army Reserve Unit to Analyze Administration of a Recaptured City.

How to operate a military government in a city like St. Louis so as to maintain orderly civil life and at the same time provide close support for forces which have chased invaders out of the city will be one of the problems studied by the 307th Military Government Group during the next 15 days.

The Army reserve unit went on active duty today, setting up headquarters in the St. Louis University School of Commerce.

A year ago the group studied the problem of re-establishing government in "Sanlu," capital of a territory that had been invaded and subjected to atomic bombing.

Taking up where they left off last August, the reservists will extend the problem to analyze measures that would be required after the city had been recaptured and the invading force had been pushed back toward the north.

The 55 officers and approximately 43 enlisted men will deal with this theoretical problem during the last days of their active duty period.

The first two days will be devoted to training 19 teams in handling such functions as public health and safety, price control and rationing. Instruction at Scott Air Force Base and training as a group will follow.

Flashes of Life

$10 for 32,585 Fireflies.

BALTIMORE — The world's champion lightning bug catcher has retained his title for the fourth year. Morgan Mallory Buchner Jr., 13 years old, had a $10 prize to show for his summer's work — 32,585 lightning bugs. A Johns Hopkins University biochemist uses the insects in a study to try to find out exactly what makes them light up.

1862 Bill Counterfeited.

INDIANAPOLIS—Secret Service agents said it was understandable that a counterfeit $20 bill, turned over to them by the First National Bank of Warsaw, Ind., had not been detected. It imitated an 1862 issue. The agents said the genuine notes had not been in circulation for 60 years.

'Radar' Sandwiches.

CHICAGO—The Chicago Civil Service Commission announced that examinations will be held to fill 25 part-time jobs as "radar sandwich attendant, branch V, class U."

The attendants will operate automatic sandwich toasting and roll warming machines in public school lunchrooms.

POGO—By Walt Kelly

I MUST GET BACK TO MY FRIENDS. WE HAVE TO HIT THE ROAD
OH, ONCE I DREAMED OF GOING WEST WHERE THE GLISTEN OF THE SIX-GUN LIGHTS THE TRAIL.
BUT I CAN'T MAKE A NOISE LIKE A COW. ALL I CAN HOLLER IS: "MEOW!" SO I WENT OFF TO FORT MUDGE TO CHASE MICE.
HOWEVER, A CAT ABOUT TWO INCHES HIGH, WEARING A DERBY, CONVINCED ME THERE WAS NO FUTURE IN IT—HE SOLD ME A HALF-INTEREST IN A MILK ROUTE···LET ME PULL THE WAGON. BUT···
A CAT! IN A DERBY!?
SMOKIN' A CIGAR? GREY FUR? LONG SKINNY TAIL? BIG PINK EARS? HOW'D YOU KNOW HE WAS A CAT?
HE MEOWED, TOO...VERY FOND OF CHEESE. WHY? YOU KNOW HIM?

ELSWORTH—By Seeg

UGLBRF...
...A PENNY!
OH MY GOSH!
DON'T YOU KNOW BETTER THAN TO PUT A DIRTY LITTLE PENNY IN YOUR MOUTH?
YEH...
...BUT IT'S THE ONLY MONEY I GOT!
